ACTION LINE is your service, solving your problems, getting your answers, cutting red tape and standing up for your rights. To get action, write ACTION LINE, Box 230, Long Beach, Calif. 90801 or dial 432-3451 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., or 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

No Yolk, Son

Q. Can ACTION LINE tell me where I can buy powdered egg whites? They are recommended for people with high cholesterol who cannot eat the egg yolk. L.M., Volcano, Hawaii.

A. Powdered egg whites are available at Sunshine Health Foods, 2908 E. Second St., for $3.25 a pound. They will mail them to you in Hawaii if you will pay the postage, a store spokesman said.

Makes Scents

Q. Will you help me find something to rid some good luggage of a musty odor? M.S., Long Beach.

A. ACTION LINE checked with three luggage shops and got three different answers. Take your pick. Richie's Luggage and Handbag Repair Shop, 217 E. Fourth St., Long Beach, suggested that you spray the inside of your luggage with an ordinary room deodorant and leave it open out in the sun for several days. Beckel's Luggage and Gift Shop, 713 W. Seventh St., Los Angeles, said this condition, caused by mildew, can never really be remedied except by changing the lining. According to Enterprise Trunk and Luggage Factory, perfumed tablets may disguise the odor but will not entirely rid the suitcase of the smell.

Aid for Aches

Q. Our employees have been donating about $200 a month to an arthritis charity. But, after reading recently of serious questions having been raised about this organization's use of the money, we stopped our contribution. Can you advise us of a reputable charity in this field? D.A., Compton.

A. The largest organization in the nation dealing with the affliction is the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation with Southern California headquarters at 8576 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90211. The foundation funnels funds into research, medical treatment for sufferers unable to afford private care, visiting nurses for homebound patients, and educational aids for doctors, nurses and therapists on rheumatic diseases. A spokesman says the foundation's administrative and fund-raising costs totaled 23.7 per cent of its income last year — the balance going directly to supporting its services.

Licensed Counsel

Q. Is a state license necessary for alcoholism counseling or for marriage, family and child counseling? G.W.S., Long Beach.

A. It is for marriage, family and child counseling but no license is required for alcoholism counseling, says a spokesman for the state Office of Professional and Vocational Standards, 107 S. Broadway, Los Angeles. To qualify as a family counselor, you must have a master's degree in one of the behavioral sciences and two years' practice in the field. Then you may apply for a license at the PVS office.

Lost Verse

Q. I have been trying to locate a poem about Christ announcing a visit to a small town. One righteous lady, certain He would call at her house, prepared elaborately, then closed the door on a beggar, a lost child and several others because she was too busy getting ready for the Savior's visit. But He did not come. That night she dreamed He appeared and, when asked why He had not called on her, said He had knocked five times at her door in such guises as a child and a beggar but that she had been too busy to let Him in. What is the name of this poem and where can I find it? Mrs. F.G., Norwalk.

A. With the help of a local minister with a good memory and the librarians in the literature and history department of the Long Beach Library, Pacific Avenue and Ocean Boulevard, we ran down Edwin Markham's poem "How the Great Guest Came." It may be found in "The Best Loved Poems of the American People" at the library.

Waxless Shine

Q. I have been admiring the floors in the hallways at Memorial Hospital and wonder if ACTION LINE can give me the name of the floor covering, and the cleaners and waxes used to maintain its glossy appearance. O.L.A., Long Beach.

A. Jim Bardin, maintenance superintendent at Memorial, told ACTION LINE that the company from whom the hospital originally bought the flooring is no longer in business. But the material is just standard 1/4-inch-thick pure vinyl tile. The hospital does not wax its floors because the wax makes them too slippery and also makes it more difficult to keep the floors germ-free. The only maintenance is regular washing with a detergent and disinfectant.

Poppins' Pix

Q. Where may I write to obtain a picture of Julie Andrews for a small child who is ill? J.M. Compton.

A. You may send your picture request to Chasin-Park-Citron, 10889 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90024. Julie Andrews, star of the box-office hits "Sound of Music" and "Mary Poppins," currently is working on two new pictures, "Star," the story of actress Gertrude Lawrence, and "Darling Lili." She hopes these new films will change her current public image of saccharin sweetness and innocence.

NO BREAKTHROUGH

Rusk Attempts to Check Peace Talks Optimism

By PETER GROSE
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Rusk tried Friday to check any sense of optimism that the Paris talks with North Vietnam were on the verge of significant progress.

"We haven't begun to break through yet on the substance of peace," he said at his first formal news conference in nearly six months.

Citing the phrase used Thursday by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford in describing slight diplomatic movement, Rusk said, "I won't quarrel with 'bits and straws' in the wind, but we have not yet, I think, taken giant strides. It would be a mistake to go beyond 'straws in the wind.'"

Rusk went on to note "certain things in the atmospheres that one might welcome — that the atmosphere is somewhat more informal, that there may be opportunities for a little more give and take."

"Of course, we are a long way from substance when we have to point to the fact that coffee breaks are becoming longer," he added.

One of the points noted by Clifford and by the chief United States negotiator, W. Averell Harriman, was that the two sides had talked informally for 40 minutes during a break in Wednesday's formal session.

Some U.S. officials also considered it hopeful that the North Vietnamese did not insist on making public the contents of the informal talks, as they have done in the official sessions.

Rusk said that another sign of movement could be the "withdrawal by Hanoi of its categorical denial that it has any forces in South Vietnam."

On May 27 the American spokesman in Paris, William J. Jordan, said that the North Vietnamese negotiator, Xuan Thuy, had come "about as close as he has to date to admitting" that North Vietnamese troops were fighting in the South.

"That is at least a step toward reality," Rusk said. "That moves us closer to the possibility of discussing things as they exist in the real world, rather than on a basis of fantasy."

The secretary gave the impression that he wished Clifford had not spoken in the optimistic manner — however guarded — that he did yesterday. While not disputing the defense secretary's judgment, Rusk clearly wanted to dampen down any expectations that might have arisen from Clifford's remarks.

250,000 Ghetto Jobs Created in 6 Months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American businessmen have provided nearly 250,000 additional jobs for ghetto dwellers in the past six months, the National Alliance of Businessmen reported to President Johnson Friday.

Harriman Sees N. Viet 'A Little More Willing'

BOSTON (UPI) — W. Averell Harriman, head of the American bargaining team at the Vietnam talks in Paris, said Friday there was no progress as yet in the negotiations but it appears North Vietnam is "more willing" to begin serious discussions.

The 77-year-old diplomat, stopping over briefly in Boston to go through U.S. customs on his jet flight from Paris to Washington, said he was returning for the New York wedding of a granddaughter this weekend. He said he had no plans to discuss the bargaining sessions with President Johnson.

In Paris, North Vietnam's chief spokesman shrugged off top-level American statements of "slight progress" in Vietnam talks and declared there had been none.

"The peace talks have made no progress, since, instead of halting unconditionally the air raids against North Vietnam, the American side has escalated its savage air attacks," Nguyen Thanh Le said.

At Midnight, Viet War Is Our Longest

SAIGON (AP) — At midnight tonight the Vietnam war becomes America's longest war — six years, six months and one day.

On Dec. 22, 1961, James Thomas Davis of Livingston, Tenn., became the first American soldier killed by Viet Cong bullets.

The U.S. has been involved in Vietnam for a quarter of a century. There was no massive attack or declaration of war that officially fixes the date when the war started, but when Spec. 4 Davis died in combat, another American war began.

Davis was, in President Johnson's words, "the first American to fall in defense of our freedom in Vietnam." Now more than 25,000 Americans have been killed in Vietnam combat.

With the passage of midnight Saturday, the Vietnam war becomes a day longer than the six years, six months of the American War of Independence that began April 19, 1775, with a skirmish at Lexington, Mass., and ended with the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown Oct. 19, 1781 — two years before the peace treaty actually was signed. Two Forest Fires Rage in Southland

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Four forest fires, feeding on unseasonably dry timber and brush, Friday charred more than 1,800 acres of land in three sections of California.

The largest blaze destroyed a house and garage and blackened 5,000 acres of brush near Gorman, 50 miles north of Los Angeles.

Fire danger high. Story and picture on Page A-8.

Another fire consumed 1,000 acres of timber in Angeles National Forest, 15 miles southwest of Gorman, and forestry officials said 200 residents may be forced to flee their homes in a near valley.

A 1,200-acre fire, the worst of the season in Northern California, raged out of control in a rugged section of Los Padres National Forest, 17 miles southwest of King City.

In the eastern portion of the state, a 60-acre timber fire burned unchecked in a remote section of Yosemite National Park.

Sirhan Lawyer, Reddin Receive Death Threats

Militant Arabs in U.S. Cited

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles Police Chief Tom Reddin and Russell E. Parsons, defense attorney for Sirhan B. Sirhan, accused assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, have had their lives threatened.

Michael A. McCowan, a private detective employed by Parsons, said telephoned and mailed threats had been received and that police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were asked to provide protection.

However, Reddin told a Statler Hilton Hotel news

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police Friday abruptly and without explanation canceled an all-points bulletin for a mysterious girl in a polka dot dress seen at the side of the accused assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Homicide Capt. Hugh Brown, who signed the cancellation order, refused to comment on the reason for the action. Two persons claimed to have seen the girl at the Ambassador Hotel the night Kennedy was shot.

conference "I haven't heard from Parsons, but whatever precautions are necessary, we will do."

Of the threat on his own life, Reddin said he was taking no extra precautions. "The significance of threats," he said, "is the personal evaluation that the receiver puts on them."

McCowan said he received a telephone call from New York. The male caller claimed that suspect Sirhan B. Sirhan, 24, a native of Jordan, would not receive a fair trial and would be "sold down the river."

There are "250,000 militant Arabs" in the United States, the caller told McCowan, and "we're going to get Parsons and the others involved in the case."

Meanwhile, the Jordanian consular official permitted to interview Sirhan in English — but not in his native Arabic — can't or won't discuss the meeting.

Sheriff Peter Pitchess disclosed that Consul George Zraikat met with Sirhan in County Jail last Tuesday.

A request that a Jordanian representative from Chicago be allowed to talk to Sirhan in Arabic was denied, Pitchess said. Zraikat was required to conduct his interview with Sirhan in English.

"I have been served with a court order which prevents me from making any comment on the case or on Sirhan," Zraikat said. "I cannot go beyond the remarks quoted by Sheriff Pitchess."

When a newsman told Zraikat that the alleged court order might not be binding upon him because of diplomatic immunity, Zraikat replied:

"It might be so, but there is nothing more than I have to say."

TRAPPED FOR HOURS

2 Workmen Killed by Sewer Fumes

By TONY CILLO
Staff Writer

Two men working deep in an underground sump vault north of Carson were overcome by deadly sewer fumes Friday and died on the way to a hospital.

Wallace Borski, 35, of South Gate, and Lewis Nickerson, 57, of Los Angeles, were dead on arrival, shortly after 5 p.m., at Harbor General Hospital — despite efforts of the County Fire Department rescue team which carried them up from the subterranean tunnel.

THE MEN, both maintenance workers with Linair Engineering, 651 Knox Ave., apparently lay 20 feet underground, unseen and possibly unheard for several hours in the grip of the toxic fumes.

"We don't know how long they were down there," Linair General Manager L.B. Whitesides said. He said they were last seen at 1:45 p.m.

"They were just missed," he said "and other employees started a search."

The rescue team brought the two men to the surface at about 5 p.m., minutes after the emergency was discovered.

They were found sprawled in about a foot of water in the vault where sewage usually collects.

"They're in bad shape," said one rescuer flatly as the two men were being carried to the ambulance.

Firemen said there were "toxic fumes" in the vault when they went down. Tests showed the fumes were not inflammable.

The firm manager said Borski and Nickerson had gone into the vault to repair a pump motor.

Borski was employed by the firm for about a year and Nickerson, for 10 months.

A coroner's deputy said a doctor will examine the bodies to determine the exact cause of death.

Stones and Myers Mortuary, Torrance is handling funeral arrangements.

Strike Threat

Levelled at

U.S. Railroads

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (BRT) hurled a strike threat at the nation's railroads Friday.

Charles Luna, president of the BRT, said union committees voted overwhelmingly to authorize strike action to back up contract demands.

The strike could come any time after midnight Thursday although Luna said no deadline was set.

The BRT served demands for a 12 1/2 per cent wage increase and improved vacation and holidays benefits last September.

B52s Defy Red Guns

Combined News Services

SAIGON, Saturday — U.S. B52 bombers defied North Vietnamese antiaircraft gunners and staged a rare series of bombing strikes on Communist targets north of the demilitarized zone, military spokesmen said today. They said the eight-engine bombers Friday night dropped hundreds of tons of explosives on artillery bases and troop positions in three successive raids on North Vietnam's southern panhandle. There were no reports of American losses.

In the South, Viet Cong forces, including women in jungle uniforms, fought three battles with South Vietnamese militia Friday for control of Highway 20 northeast of Saigon. Heavy combat raged around a strategic bridge. The highway is the main route leading from Communist strongholds in mountain provinces to the Saigon area which guerrillas have used to rain destruction on the capital. The B52 raids Friday came on the heels of intelligence reports of massive Communist buildup just north of the buffer zone. The bombers, each of them worth $8 million, rarely strike in heavily defended North Vietnam because of the tremendous loss at stake should one of them be downed by a surface-to-air missile.

The U.S. military command evidently weighed the risk of a fresh Communist threat and the bombers were sent to strike at an area six miles north of the DMZ.

Early today, the jet bombers flew four missions on the outskirts of Saigon, bombing Communist base camps and supply areas 21 to 37 miles west and northwest of the capital. The force of today's bombings was felt stronger in Saigon than did earlier raids, apparently because B52s were carrying heavier payloads and using 1,000-pound bombs.

Anti-U.S. Riot in Rio Kills 3

RIO DE JANEIRO — Shouting, stone-throwing Brazilian students battled police in downtown Rio Friday after smashing windows at the U.S. Embassy. One policeman and two students were reported killed in the city's third straight day of violence. Ambulances with sirens screaming raced through the city taking scores of police, students and bystanders to hospitals with gunshot wounds and bruises from stones and clubs. More than 100 persons were said to have been arrested. No embassy personnel were reported hurt. Students claim that an agreement between the U.S. Agency for International Development and Brazil's Ministry of Higher Education to overhaul the Brazilian education system is a form of colonialism. They say the United States is trying to control education in Brazil.

Czech Maneuvers Ending

PRAGUE — Premier Oldrich Cernik said Friday Soviet and other Communist troops conducting Warsaw Pact maneuvers in Czechoslovakia would leave the country before the end of June. In another development, the reform-minded Czech leadership Friday relieved five deputy ministers in the ministry of interior of their posts. An official announcement said the move was made on the recommendation of Interior Minister Josef Pavel.

Youths on Rampage in Bangkok

BANGKOK — Thousands of youths, many in short pants and carrying schoolbags, overran police barricades and marched on Parliament Friday to protest the arrest of a former politician who was making a public test of free-speech guarantees in Thailand's day-old constitution. The march developed into a demonstration against—among other things—Thailand's commitment of troops to the allied war in Vietnam and visits to Bangkok by U.S. servicemen on leave from the war.

Poor Resume Protest Drive

Combined News Services

WASHINGTON — About 150 singing, clapping demonstrators returned to the Agriculture Department Friday evening to resume the Poor People's Campaign protest against the government's policies for feeding the destitute. Shouting "Soul Power!" and "Do Right, White Man!", they blocked all entrances to two massive buildings. But the thousands of department employees had already gone home for the weekend. With a heavy force of police standing by, demonstrator leader Jesse Jackson said the group would camp there for the weekend and on Monday morning "they'll have to climb over us or else remove us."

Shortly after 2 p.m. EDT two youths were arrested and hustled into a patrol wagon, the day's first arrests. Deputy Police Chief J. V. Wilson said they were charged with unlawful assembly and disorderly conduct.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and leader of the campaign, has indicated he will begin participating in civil disobedience demonstrations but did not appear with the group at the Agriculture Department.

Storm Brenda to Miss Mainland

MIAMI — Tropical storm Brenda sprang to life with 60 to 70-mph winds in the open Atlantic Friday and began intensifying while heading away from the U.S. mainland. "There's little likelihood Brenda will affect the mainland," said forecaster Neil Frank at the National Hurricane Center in Miami. The British resort island of Bermuda was told to keep "in close touch" with advisories on the storm, which forecasters said may become the second hurricane of the young season.

Scorpion Hunt Cut to 5 Ships

NORFOLK — The Navy Friday said it was cutting down to five the number of ships assigned to hunt for the missing nuclear submarine Scorpion. The destroyer D. H. Fox and salvage ship Kittywake were pulled off the search south of the Azores this morning and dispatched back to their home ports. This will leave five ships trying to find the submarine, which has been missing with its crew of 99 for a month.

Senate Group OKs Holiday Bill

WASHINGTON — A bill to change several holidays to Monday, thus creating long weekends, has been approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The measure, unchanged in Thursday's action from the version passed by the House, provides for observance of Washington's birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans Day on Mondays, and makes Columbus Day a federal holiday for the first time. Columbus Day also would be observed on a Monday. Since Labor Day already falls on a Monday, the effect of the bill would be to have five three-day holiday weekends each year.

Moscow-N.Y. Air Route OK'd

WASHINGTON — President Johnson approved Friday the award of a Moscow-to-New York route to the Soviet Airline, Aeroflot. The President's action, endorsing a Civil Aeronautics Board order, cleared the last apparent obstacle to the long delayed service. It left Aeroflot and Pan American World Airways which already has a certificate for the route, free to start operating the route immediately.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Lyn, Grandpa Celebrate a Birthday

Combined News Services

Stealing away from a cabinet meeting, President Johnson whipped a pen-knife from his pocket and sliced a piece of red, white and blue cake Friday to help his grandson, Patrick Lyndon Nugent, observe his first birthday. Lyn, as the child is called, was intrigued by the cake and grabbed a frosted red rose from it. The he tried to eat a candle.

After Lyn devoured his slice of cake in the White House rose garden, his grandfather pulled out a handkerchief and wiped away the crumbs from his face. "That's what he dislikes the most—having his face wiped," laughed the First Lady, back from eight days on the Johnson ranch in Texas. Lyn played with his White House press pass, which he wore around his neck on a chain. It showed his photograph.

"He's a member of the staff," his mother, Luci, explained. "He's in charge of making people happy." Luci said she and her husband, Airman I.C. Patrick I. Nugent, who is on duty at Cam Ranh Bay in Vietnam, gave Lyn a savings bond for his birthday. The Johnsons also gave him one.

White House reporters and photographers rose to the occasion and serenaded the child with "Happy Birthday." Pictures were taken to be sent to the dad's father. Luci said she baked another cake—chocolate, with chocolate frosting—for the family celebration, later in the day.

She said she didn't know when it would be held. "When you're dealing with my father and his grandchild," she sighed, "you have to be very flexible. They both have very busy schedules."

KENNEDYS

A Kennedy family yachting party including several of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's children sailed to Newport, R.I., Friday to view the start of the Newport Bermuda yacht race. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and his wife, Joan, were hosts for the party which arrived here Thursday night. The senator and the younger Kennedys, including his own children, those of the late senator, and John F. Kennedy Jr. spent some time viewing the mystic, Conn., seaport restoration before embarking for Newport Friday morning on the 60-foot yawl Mira. Mrs. John F. Kennedy remained in New York and her daughter, Caroline, was visiting friends in New Jersey.

GOOD-BY

As his farewell gift, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg presented Secretary-General U Thant Friday a handwritten facsimile of the U.S. Declaration of Independence. On the last day as chief U.S. delegate he paid a final call on Thant, then addressed several hundred U.S. employees of the United Nations.

CRASH FATAL

A Santa Monica woman died Friday from injuries suffered in a crash with a car driven by character actor Allen Jenkins. Mrs. Johanna Brueckner, 49, succumbed in Santa Monica Hospital. Three others were seriously injured when their vehicle crashed into the rear end of the actor's automobile Wednesday afternoon in the Malibu area. Jenkins, 68, of Malibu, was making a left-hand turn at the time of the accident. He suffered a chipped shoulder bone and a cut forehead.

APRIL FOOL SAILS BY HOME PORT

Hugo Vihlen conquered the vast Atlantic Friday after an 85-day voyage from Africa in a boat the size of a big bathtub. But his hope of sailing triumphantly into his home harbor was dashed by winds and Gulf Stream currents.

Instead of landing at Homestead, he finished the last 25 miles aboard a motor launch with his wife and son. Vihlen accepted the lift off of Delray Beach, some 50 miles north of Miami and 80 miles north of Homestead where a host of friends awaited his arrival. After seeing his April Fool hoisted aboard a coast guard cutter, Vihlen boarded the launch Sea Wolf where his wife, Johnnie, and 11-year-old son, Dana, awaited him.

SNCC'S RAP BROWN
Didn't Seek Re-election

RAP BROWN SUCCESSOR CHOSEN

Philip Hutchings, a soft-spoken, young black organizer in Newark has been chosen to succeed Rap Brown as leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Hutchings, 26, is reliably reported to have been elected at a meeting last weekend in Atlanta, the group's headquarters. SNCC has refused to confirm the story for "the white press," but those who have worked closely here with Hutchings for the past three years have confirmed it. Hutchings himself has been unavailable for comment.

The post itself has been changed to signal the new direction of the financially hard-pressed Black Power organization. Hutchings will be "program coordinator," not "chairman," a post which has been abolished. Brown, who served as chairman since May 1967, reportedly did not seek re-election.

POLICE BURIAL

Flags flew at half-staff in San Francisco Friday as they laid to rest Peter F. McElligott, 25, a police officer shot down Wednesday. In municipal court Edgar Allen Jr., 19, pleaded innocent to charges of murdering the policeman. Municipal Judge Walter Calcagno set July 8 for Allen and Donald Ray Cladwell, 20, to plead to other charges. McElligott was killed in a Golden Gate Park shootout.

'PHONY HEROES'

Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson Friday accused the nation's press of creating "phony heroes" and cited Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael as an example of hero making. Watson spoke to the convention of the Texas Press Association in San Antonio. He said press coverage of Carmichael has had a damaging effect on Negro leaders who are not of the radical stripe.

RAY ATTORNEY

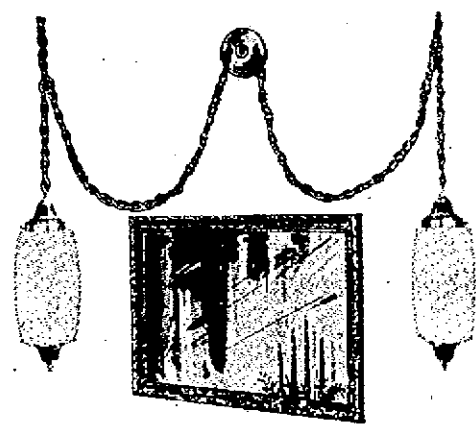

British officials were reported Friday to have turned down a request by James Earl Ray's American lawyer for an interview with him. Arthur J. Hanes Sr., former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., arrived Thursday in London and said Ray, accused killer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., had written asking him to serve as his defense lawyer if he is extradited and stands trial for murder in the United States.

DR. SPOCK

Counsel for Dr. Benjamin Spock and two other men convicted last week in Boston of conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft filed motions Friday for a new trial. Attorney Leonard B. Boudin said his client was not "confronted with the witnesses against him" and "not informed of the nature and cause of the accusation." The motion also renewed Boudin's request for dismissal.

FOR RIFLE ASSAULT

Pearl Birch Gets Two 1-10 Terms

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

Six-foot, 200-pound Pearl Choate Birch — who made news in 1966 when she "eloped" with millionaire Albert Otis Birch — was sentenced Friday to serve two terms in state prison for assaulting a Compton policeman and a neighbor with a rifle.

Superior Court Judge Kathleen Parker imposed two 1-10-year sentences on the 60-year-old widow of Birch, to run concurrently.

Mrs. Birch, who once served 12 years in prison for murder in Texas, was wheeled into the Los Angeles courtroom in a wheelchair, a result — according to her attorney, Charles Holloper — of a heart attack suffered while she was undergoing diagnostic tests at the California Institution for Women near Corona. She was in court only three minutes, just long enough for Judge Parker to hand out the sentences.

THE RESULTS of the Corona tests were not made public, but court observers said they were in the same vein as an earlier probation department report which said Mrs. Birch "shows a very definite and well-established pattern of violent and assaultive behavior."

Mrs. Birch was convicted Jan. 23 of assaulting the officer and neighbor in an outgrowth of a dispute over rent in a duplex she owned. Mrs. Birch admitted she ordered the doors to a tenant's apartment removed after she was not paid rent when she demanded it.

Compton police officer Rex Council and Rod Ferguson, brother-in-law of the tenant, approached Mrs. Birch's apartment gingerly and halted when she yelled: "Get off my property!"

A BULLET from a .22-caliber rifle punctuated Mrs. Birch's shout, narrowly missing both the officer and the neighbor and crashing through a plate-glass window across the street.

Mrs. Birch later said the gun was laying on a chest she wanted to sit on, and when she picked it up it accidentally discharged.

Pearl met her latest — reportedly her seventh — husband when she responded to an ad in a South Pasadena newspaper asking for a practical nurse. Birch and his wife, both in their 90s, had given more than $20 million to Baptist philanthropies when Pearl arrived on the scene.

In short order, she took the Birch couple to Texas, where Mrs. Birch died in October 1967. Wild, unorthodox events ensued.

HARLAN J. Moehn, a cousin of the deceased Mrs. Birch, arrived at Breckinridge, Tex., to ask after the circumstances of her death. Mrs. Choate grabbed a knife and chased Moehn off the premises, swinging the blade perilously close to him as he ran. The Breckinridge sheriff issued a warrant for Mrs. Birch, Choate and she was arrested, then freed on bail.

The next day, Pearl and her 95-year-old charge disappeared, touching off a statewide search. They returned a few days later, with Pearl blushing as well as a 59-year-old bride can, and said they had been wed in Altus, Okla., in a curbside ceremony.

Relatives promptly sued Pearl, and some filed kidnapping charges against the brawny practical nurse, but Pearl won all the cases. A bid by the family to have Birch declared mentally incompetent was also overruled in court, and Baptist church officials fared no better in their court tests of the Birch will following the philanthropist's death in March 1968. Estimates of the fortune inherited by Pearl have been as high as $2 million.

27 Bubonic Plague Deaths in 10 Years

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — Twenty-seven persons have died of the once-dreaded Bubonic plague in the Western United States in the past 10 years, two scientists said Thursday.

The figure was given by Dr. Robert Lechleiner of Colorado State University and Dr. William Archibald of the U.S. Public Health Service communicable disease center at Window Rock, Ariz.

Reddin Sees Quiet Summer

Police Chief Tom Reddin predicted Friday the "long, hot summer" in Los Angeles will be quiet.

"The feeling is that the community itself does not want a riot," Reddin told a news conference at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

The chief said although he was "optimistic" about the summer, he was not going to state flatly there would be no trouble.

But, Reddin added, "I'm encouraged by what I read in the community," explaining he not only referred to Los Angeles' minority groups but to all citizens.

HE SAID the police department, in its relations with the public, has "gained ground since last summer."

The summer months have for the past half-dozen years been the key time for riots throughout the nation.

One of the bloodiest was in Watts in 1965, when the late William Parker was still police chief.

Reddin, in his 27-year career with the police department, has worked in minority communities—mostly in South Central Los Angeles where the 1965 riot erupted.

One of his first actions when he succeeded Parker as police chief was to stress the importance of police-community relations to ease the tensions in minority communities.

Illness Recesses Bribe Trial

The bribery trial of two former Los Angeles city harbor commissioners was recessed Friday when one defendant — 68-year-old Karl L. Rundberg — apparently became ill and had to be helped from the courtroom.

Rundberg, a former city councilman, is suffering from a heart condition and apparently became too weak to proceed with the session.

He and Robert N. (Nick) Starr, 35, are on trial on charges they each received two bribes from San Pedro developer Keith Smith last year.

Earlier, the eight-man, four-woman Superior Court jury heard testimony from the former controller of Smith's San Sebastian Land Co., who said the developer authorized him to repay more than $6,000 in construction costs to Rundberg's Medical Science Laboratories.

Rundberg became ill while the jury was listening to afternoon testimony by John Poortinga, the former controller.

Rundberg, who was sitting in a chair against a wall, leaned forward and put his head on the cane he has been using in court appearances.

After a temporary recess, attorneys conferred with Judge William B. Keene in his chambers and agreed to recess until Monday.

Poortinga will be back on the stand when the trial resumes Monday at 10 a.m.

Rundberg and Starr are charged with accepting bribes for favorable consideration for leases sought by Smith for various developments on harbor land.

One of these leases was for land on which Smith proposed to build a $12 million world trade center.

The bribes Rundberg is charged with accepting are $6,500 in imported Japanese furniture for offices at his Medical Science Laboratories and a $6,047 remodeling job done by one of Smith's companies on the lab.

Poortinga, Smith's controller until last March, testified that the developer told him to withdraw money from Cabrillo Savings and Loan Co. and convert it to a cashier's check payable to Medical Science Laboratories.

Licensed Counsel

Q. Is a state license necessary for alcoholism counseling or for marriage, family and child counseling? G.W.S., Long Beach.

A. It is for marriage, family and child counseling but no license is required for alcoholism counseling, says a spokesman for the state Office of Professional and Vocational Standards, 107 S. Broadway, Los Angeles. To qualify as a family counselor, you must have a master's degree in one of the behavioral sciences and two years' practice in the field. Then you may apply for a license at the PVS office.

Lost Verse

Q. I have been trying to locate a poem about Christ announcing a visit to a small town. One righteous lady, certain He would call at her house, prepared elaborately, then closed the door on a beggar, a lost child and several others because she was too busy getting ready for the Savior's visit. But He did not come. That night she dreamed He appeared and, when asked why He had not called on her, said He had knocked five times at her door in such guises as a child and a beggar but that she had been too busy to let Him in. What is the name of this poem and where can I find it? Mrs. F.G., Norwalk.

A. With the help of a local minister with a good memory and the librarians in the literature and history department of the Long Beach Library, Pacific Avenue and Ocean Boulevard, we ran down Edwin Markham's poem "How the Great Guest Came." It may be found in "The Best Loved Poems of the American People" at the library.

LBJ's Tax Hike Bittersweet Win

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eighteen months after President Johnson asked for it, Congress Friday sent him a 10 per cent income tax increase which will trim most Americans' take-home pay early next month.

The end of the longest and certainly one of the bitterest disputes of the 90th Congress came with routine and undramatic Senate approval of the bill, which passed the House Thursday night.

The Senate vote was 64-16, with 33 Democrats and 31 Republicans for the bill, 14 Democrats and two Republicans against it and 19 senators absent. The House passed it 268-150, with 154 Democrats and 114 Republicans voting yes and 77 Democrats and 73 Republicans voting no.

FIFTEEN days after Johnson signs the measure — which orders $6 billion in spending cuts which he once bitterly opposed as "blackmail" — it will go into effect and paychecks from which taxes are withheld will shrink.

Retroactive to April 1 and thus covering three-quarters of 1968, the individual tax increase will amount to 7.5 per cent for 1968. It will expire July 1, 1969 unless extended by Congress — a definite possibility.

In all, the bill is expected to raise $15.6 billion before its expiration date. This includes a 10 per cent increase in corporate income taxes retroactive to Jan. 1 and extension of the 10 per cent telephone and 7 per cent automobile excise taxes which would have expired this past April.

For a married man with two children who earns $150 a week, the increase will mean the amount withheld from his check will rise from $14.70 to $16.10. But the poor will be exempt. Taxes will not go up for a married man with two children, who earns less than $5,000 a year.

BECAUSE it was tied to the spending cut he opposed, congressional approval was a bittersweet victory for Johnson, who first asked Congress for a tax surcharge — in his State of the Union address on Jan. 10, 1967.

On Aug. 3, 1967, he asked again, this time for a 10 per cent surcharge, arguing it was necessary to avert "an unsafe and unmanageable deficit" of $28 billion, "a ruinous spiral" of inflation, "brutally higher" interest rates and "an unequal and unjust" distribution of the burden of the Vietnam war and "a deterioration" in the U.S. balance of payments.

But until he reluctantly agreed to the $6 billion cut in his $186.1 billion budget for the fiscal year which starts July 1, he could not win over Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and the most powerful voice in Congress on tax matters.

The President agreed to a $4-billion spending cut but said anything else would be "blackmail" and a "phony paper cut." Finally he yielded, accepted the full $6-billion cut and won Mills' support.

THE BILL was the first general tax increase since the Korean war and the first since the Civil War which carried a spending limitation.

The limitation requires the President to cut spending if the Congress cannot agree where the cuts must come. Thus, if Congress cuts only $3 billion from the budget, it will be up to Johnson to cut the remaining $3 billion, from what Congress authorizes in spending.

Consequently, the Congress yielded its traditional close control of the purse strings by insisting upon the spending cut.

OEO Grant Used for Guns, Bail Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Blackstone Rangers, a street gang in Chicago, were armed by self-styled revolutionists and prepared to join a national Negro uprising, investigating senators were told Friday.

George Rose, described as a former Ranger warlord, testified that other Ranger leaders told him that at a meeting in Philadelphia in April 1967 with members of the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM), the Chicago gang learned of a plot to assassinate "all the nonviolent civil rights leaders of the country."

Rose was under questioning by members of the Senate's permanent investigations subcommittee concerning an Office of Economic Opportunity grant for the Rangers and another Chicago Negro gang.

He said the gang used the more than $927,000 from the OEO as an education and job training grant to buy guns and obtain bond for jailed gang leaders.

Rose said gang members turned down an offer by two white men to give the Rangers guns and money if they would paint red hammer and sickle insignia on downtown Chicago buildings.

But Rose said the Rangers accepted a later offer from black militant groups to arm themselves and wait for a general uprising.

Rose said the Rangers were contacted by such persons as Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown, both leaders of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and by Ron Karenga, a West Coast militant.

He said these men and Ranger leaders discussed "what we would do if things kicked off all over the country." He did not directly connect them with those he said supplied firearms.

Rose told the committee black militant leaders whom he did not name brought a large assortment of firearms and a "large box of hand grenades" to the Rangers' arsenal — a tunnel under a Presbyterian church on Chicago's south side.

He said the arsenal included two .22 magnum rifles, equipped with sniper scopes, 16 sawed-off carbines and 16 full-length carbines, among other things.

He said the black nationalists gave the Rangers "guns, money and marijuana."

"They wanted us to band together so that the day the big war really started we would all be armed and be all together," Rose said. "Do you mean this would be an armed revolution?" asked Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

"Yes sir," Rose replied.

Rose said he had been told that RAM leaders had an assassination list which included the names of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Rev. Jesse Jackson, a leader in King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, leaders of the NAACP and "all the big nonviolent leaders..."

Rose stressed that he was not at the Philadelphia meeting and said his testimony "is what I heard" from other Rangers.

He said he was "not too involved" in negotiations with persons he said were revolutionists because "I wasn't interested myself." He said he assumed that the white persons who had contacted the Rangers and perhaps the black militants as well were Communists.

Rose told also of what he said were murders, shootings and other crimes for which he said Ranger leaders were responsible.

Equality Warren's Legacy

as "restraints upon action by the government which trespass upon personal liberties reserved to the individual in our society."

The United States, unlike other countries, is prone to treat overriding social dilemmas in the form of lawsuits—a habit which gives courts a permanent role in government if other branches tend to withdraw from the fray.

The "Impinch Warren" signs and other strong criticism stemmed largely from the fact that the nation's highest court was wrestling with some of the moral and political issues which Congress and White House had ignored.

UNDER THESE circumstances, a Warren-led court remained at the heart of the Negro's bid for civil rights, worked a revolution in state legislatures with a "one man, one vote" command, and decreed a new attitude toward criminal suspects.

"The 'liberal' momentum picked up after retirement from the bench of some Eisenhower and Truman appointees and remained virtually constant until the term closed on Monday.

Should Justice Abe Fortas be elevated to the Chief Justice's post, substantially the same philosophical lines that guided Warren might well continue.

UC Regents Elect Slate for 1968-69

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Regents of the University of California Friday elected DeWitt A. Higgs, 61, Chula Vista, as board chairman for the year beginning July 1.

Higgs, a lawyer, will replace Theodore Meyer, who will resign his ex-officio membership on the board to be replaced by the new president of the Mechanics Institute.

The board named Elinor R. Heller vice chairman for the year.

THE REGENTS announced Dr. William James McGill had been named chancellor of the university's San Diego campus. McGill, professor of psychology and chairman-elect of the university's state-wide Faculty Assembly, succeeds Dr. Jon Galbraith, who will begin a leave from the university June 30 on a fellowship to Cambridge University.

Galbraith had been chancellor in San Diego since December 1964.

McGill, 46, was born in New York and received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Fordham University and his Ph.D. from Harvard.

Humphrey Wins Indiana Skirmish

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey swept up the lion's share of Indiana's 63 delegate votes Friday at an uproarious state Democratic convention picketed by supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

At one point, a young McCarthy supporter became so outraged at refusals to grant his forces the floor that he stormed the platform and tried to yank the microphone away from the presiding officer, Rep. Ray J. Madden.

McCarthy Sees Great N.Y. Effect

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy Friday told some 160 of his campaign workers gathered from across the country for a strategy meeting that results of the New York Democratic primary indicate "we have strong support from people who were voting for Robert Kennedy."

"I think it will have a great effect on those they call the professional politicians," he said in a telephone message from his Washington office.

In the primary, McCarthy won half the state's convention delegates and a booster of his won the U.S. Senate nomination.

McCarthy originally planned to address the meeting of workers, state campaign managers and state chairmen of McCarthy organizations in person before it ended Friday, but a schedule conflict prevented him from doing so. He spoke in the evening at St. Paul, Minn.

The frustrated McCarthyite, Dennis Shorthouse, 24, Indianapolis, was hustled out of the hall by a cordon of state police but was not arrested.

WHILE McCarthy diehards picketed outside, delegates inside shouted approval of a list of 34 at-large delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

The list was prepared by Democratic State Chairman Gordon St. Angelo, an outspoken Humphrey loyalist accused by McCarthyites of also railroading the selection of 30 other delegates at district caucuses Thursday night.

Although the Hoosier delegation will be technically uncommitted when it goes to Chicago, all but a smattering of the delegates are expected to follow St. Angelo's lead. The exceptions will be a token representation — four or five delegates — which St. Angelo said he would grant the McCarthy forces.

California Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh says the state's delegation to the Democratic National Convention will remain uncommitted. Story on Page A-7.

SOON after St. Angelo wrapped up the Hoosier delegation for Humphrey, the state convention handed him a stinging defeat. By just two votes — a margin so close a recount was needed — Lt. Gov. Robert L. Rock won the gubernatorial nomination over the favorite of St. Angelo's party organization, former state House Speaker Richard Bodine.

The convention also nominated Sen. Birch Bayh to a second term by acclamation.

Wallace Says He's in Control

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Third-party candidate George Wallace said Friday his campaign will be the determining factor in the presidential race in November regardless of whether he wins or loses.

In brief speeches to the two houses of the Mississippi Legislature while in Jackson on a southern fund raising tour, Wallace said, as he has in the past that he is running to win, "and will win," but added: "If we don't win, the least we can do is decide who does win."

He referred to the chance that he might get enough electoral votes to keep one of the major party candidates from receiving the required majority, and thus throw the election into the House of Representatives.

HHH Predicts China Talks, Says Paris Promises Peace

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Friday night that if elected president he would hope to talk to Chinese leaders in an effort to ease world tensions.

Rocky Feels Nixon Can Be Caught

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (UPI) — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said Friday he feels he can overtake Richard Nixon's front-running position in the race for the Republican presidential nomination because party leaders "want to win."

He made the comment during an airport news conference upon arrival for a meeting at nearby colonial Williamsburg with members of the Virginia delegation to the Republican National Convention. The meeting was expected to last several hours.

"I think Dick Nixon is probably a two-to-one favorite with the party leaders," he said, "but the party leaders want to win and in the last analysis if they feel they have a reasonable alternative that I can win I've got a very good chance."

Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, old Minnesota friends now battling for the Democratic presidential nomination, were speakers on the same program Friday night for the first time since they became candidates for the nation's no. 1 job.

They addressed a $25-a-plate dinner to raise money for legislative candidates on the eve of Minnesota's Democratic Farmer Labor Party convention.

Humphrey said he would propose "hard work" — right now with the Soviet Union, and in the future, with Communist China — to reduce tensions that increasingly take our resources for the wrong things.

"I have talked to (Soviet) Prime Minister (Alexei) Kosygin about this," he said.

"Given a chance in the international atmosphere, I would hope to do the same with some future Chinese leader."

Humphrey predicted the Vietnam war has been ended if the United States has the courage to keep up deliberations in Paris.

Humphrey said that once the Vietnam war has been ended "and if we have the courage to see these discussions in Paris through, I think it can be over, the nations of Southeast Asia can get down to the work of peaceful development, without regard to ideology."

Charge Lobbying Marshals Stayed on County Payroll

By JIM McCAULEY
From Our L.A. Bureau
Three municipal court marshals were detached from their regular duties to lobby in Sacramento while they remained on the county payroll during the past six months, it was charged Friday.

The allegation was leveled by Robert Mitchell, chairman of the Los Angeles County Citizens

Economy and Efficiency Committee. Marshal Leslie R. Keays promptly denied the charge.

Mitchell's blast apparently was triggered when his committee's No. 1 1968 legislative project flopped.

Not only didn't the committee recommendation for a Sheriff's Department take over of the Marshal's Office win legislative approval, but a rival bill won final legislative passage Thursday.

The successful legislation, Assembly Bill 470, provides that the marshal serve all civil processes issued by any court in Los Angeles and San Diego counties. It thus makes the Marshal's Office, an agency the committee wanted to abolish, more powerful than ever.

Previously, sheriff's officers served some of the civil processes.

In branding the Mitchell charge untrue, Keays said only two marshals were involved in lobbying. They were not detached full time and did not spend a full six months at lobbying, according to Keays.

He said most weeks it involved only two or three days of lobbying, and they made up for it by working weekends.

Of the successful lobbying effort of the Marshal's Office, Mitchell stated:

"We thus have the ironic spectacle of the county taxpayers financing a lobby devoted to blocking a marshal-sheriff merger that would have saved taxpayers $1.5 million annually."

$22,350 to $331,000 per year.

Lindon S. Hollinger, county chief administrative officer, immediately turned the matter over to Maharg's office for research.

Maharg reported the state code provides for rescission of the tax collecting agreement if the board gives the city one year's notice of its intention.

He said such action must be expressed by resolution, which he has submitted to the Supervisors.

After the board adopts the resolution, the city must decide whether it desires to assess property within the city and collect its own taxes or proceed under other sections of the government code and transfer the job to the county, Maharg said.

County to Be Asked to Halt L.A. Tax Job

Los Angeles County Supervisors will be asked Tuesday to rescind a 50-year-old agreement under which the county assesses and collects taxes for the City of Los Angeles.

The recommendation — by the office of county counsel John D. Maharg — has come only days after refusal by the city council to vastly increase fees paid for the service.

The council, acting on the advice of city officials, rejected a county request to increase the fee from

Of all the lower-growing ground covers such as ajuga, vinca major or minor, certain sedums, cerastium tomentosum, and the various verbenas but to name a few, the one that stands out head and shoulders above those named and still others unnamed is sand verberna.

We saw a "waif," probably dropped by a bird, in Yucca Valley growing with minimum water conditions. Another "stray" in San Jacinto is growing in the crack of a half-inch strip of soil between the public sidewalk and the south exposure and the upright stone wall of the building. It possibly gets a bit of "spit watering" as the sidewalk might be washed off once a week if that often, yet it is growing in a rectangle shape trying to hug that wee bit of soil, and blooming!

A third one we spotted grows in the parking area where the homes were removed from the freeway to be built later. That deep lavender-purple verberna, if you please, continues to grow, bloom freely without any water other than the winter rains it received:

IF YOU think that one is a toughie, listen to this. We spotted one growing in decomposed granite, hard-packed almost lifeless soil, and no possible visible vegetation within 10 feet. It grows close to the public cement sidewalk that you and I know gets hot during the summer season, yet . . . it is blooming!

Can't you see why I'm so "hepped up" about this particular specie, Verberna pulchella, that is or has been available in three color varieties of wine, white and deep purplish-lavender. You can grow it as a minimum-care ground cover for parking area, as a partial lawn substitute, on slopes and banks whether in coastal areas or inland, and it'll bloom for six months, possibly nearly year 'round if grown under more favorable conditions.

Under adverse conditions it grows to about six inches high, but if cared for it grows to about 10 to 12 inches high. (Don't let the attractive, lacy, fernlike foliage fool you into thinking that it is a tender plant, because it isn't.) Trim it back each spring to about four inches and it soon grows up again and looks as if you have planted a brand new ground cover.

You'll help sand verberna get a better start if you prepare just the holes where the plants are set in. Work in bone meal and compost soil, or premoistened peat moss or planter mix mulch mixed well with the soil.

YOU'll also help that dichondra lawn of yours grow thicker and lusher by top-dressing it with quality lawn-grade, weed-free treated steer manure or a spread mulch material, because you'll be providing it an "insulant material" that will save you on frequency of watering by conserving the moisture and keeping the turf cooler during hot weather. Additionally the top dressing provides a gently feeding action and stimulates quicker growth of the new dichondra seedlings.

Cutworms love dichondra. There are several signs you'll notice if there are cutworms in your lawn. Should you flush the fat, husky looking, tan-gray moths out of the lawn, or nearby bushes that you have hoed, you know there's probably some cutworm eggs already laid in that lawn. The other indication of cutworms in the lawn is disappearance of the leaves. You'll notice small areas of the remaining leafless runner branches.

There are two methods of control. Stomach poison insecticide through spraying of the lawn, or a turf fertilizer containing an insecticide. Whichever you use, you must remember it works effectively only in the area where the worms are feeding. Later, you have to repeat the control.

ONE OF the semiannual jobs we don't mind is planting seasonal annuals for an interesting change of color, also for cut flowers indoors.

Zinnias and petunias, when planted together — zinnias at the back and petunias in front — provide the most riotous color combination imaginable. Even a small 18-inch space in a sunny location will accommodate such an attractive planting combination.

Petunias by themselves of mixed colors furnish a gay, showy planting where somewhat low plants are desired and lot of blossoms expected throughout the summer season.

Month or so after the various annuals are planted, they should be fertilized with a general all-purpose plant food.

Q. What is wrong with our 7-year-old orange tree? The small fruits are beginning to drop off. We have given it citrus food. Should we water it a lot? Mrs. H. Rosenthal.

A. The orange tree is old enough to bear fruit. A lack of sufficient water can cause fruit to dry and drop off. Deep-water the tree, whether in a lawn or bare soil area, to a four-foot depth at about four to six-week intervals.

Q. How to grow hibiscus? How much watering do they need; what kind of fertilizer and how often to fertilize? I get many buds but they fall off before blooming. Also, are they to be pruned? Mrs. E.R.

A. Hibiscus, like any other plants, should be watered only when they thirst. Mature hibiscus three years or older should be watered to a three-foot depth. Feed them a general balanced plant food containing more phosphoric acid than nitrogen. A mature hibiscus should be fed twice a year, in early March and in June. Young hibiscus needs three feedings a year. Plant may be pruned annually to fit the area it is growing in. Best time to prune is from early March through not later than early May. Bud drop may be due to one of four causes: Immature plant, soil too wet, drastic variable weather conditions during the bud development stage in the spring, or a minute worm that chews through the base of the unopened flower buds. Immature plant means fast root development the first two years after plant has been set out. Drastic variable weather conditions means that during a spell of warm weather the buds are developing but a sudden change to cool overcast days and colder nights causes the buds to drop. (Gardenia buds are affected the same way.)

WEEK'S TIPS

Edge the lawns, trim around the trees and sprinkler heads each time you mow and you'll save time. If you let them go two or three times, it will take you much longer to do the job.

Get that ground cover planted, or the lawn reseeded, or a new lawn seed sown as soon as you can before the hot weather sets in!

Vines, shrubs, or ground covers on slopes or embankments should be watered with a fine mistlike soil soaker, to avert water runoff.

Zinnias and asters form an attractive colorful planting combination because the asters will have several colors that the zinnias lack. Be sure the large-flowered zinnias are planted back of the asters.

104,000 Billed for Late Taxes

From Our L.A. Bureau
Delinquent tax notices have been mailed to 104,000 property owners.

They owe $45.7 million in taxes from fiscal 1967-68, according to Harold J. Ostly, tax collector. All unpaid taxes now require the payment of a 6 per cent penalty plus $3.

Additional penalties go into effect July 1, Ostly warned.

Pro-RFK Slate to Remain Free Until Convention

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Despite Eugene McCarthy's strong showing in New York, the leader of the pro-Kennedy California delegation said Friday he expects his group to remain uncommitted until the Democratic national convention.

"I don't expect any significant move away from the delegation's uncommitted stand," said Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, head of the pro-Kennedy slate chosen at the June 4 primary.

THIS VIEW was seconded by Rep. Thomas Rees, D-Calif., one of two congressmen on the California delegation.

Unruh and Rees said they have seen no sign that McCarthy's win in the New York primary this week will start a move in the California group toward the Minnesota.

However, Unruh admitted that if the delegation had to vote now between McCarthy and Humphrey that it "would splinter rather badly." He said the 172-person delegation includes "about a half-dozen people who are desperately opposed" to Humphrey because of his identification with the administration's Vietnam policy.

But Unruh and Rees agreed that virtually all of the delegation recognize the wisdom of remaining uncommitted for maximum influence not only on the selection of a nominee but also in the writing of the platform and the workings of the credentialing committee.

THE PAIR said this would be with a view to promoting the views of the late New York senator on the convention.

Both said they saw no chance of a dark horse being considered by the convention.

Unruh and Rees made

GOP Slate Meet on Strategy

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's 86 delegates to the Republican National Convention, pledged to vote for Gov. Ronald Reagan for the presidential nomination, meet in Los Angeles today for another strategy session.

The delegates will concentrate mainly on how to get to Miami Beach and where they'll stay during the convention, but there is some talk among the delegates of what will happen after Reagan releases them.

ALL SIGNS indicate the slate — second largest bloc of delegates at the convention — will remain solidly behind the California governor.

This commitment is not legally binding but is enforced by the governor's political power.

Talk has been developing for weeks over how the delegates will vote after Reagan releases them following the first ballot.

A source identified with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said the delegation is "leaning heavily toward Nixon."

LAST WEEK New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller met with some of the leaders of the delegation. They said they came away impressed with his hour and a half discussion of his views.

Reagan boosters hope for a Nixon-Rockefeller deadlock at the convention — a deadlock that could propel Reagan into the nomination.

their observations at a press conference they called to display petitions from Californians seeking stronger gun-control laws.

The petitions, which they said contained about 400,000 signatures, were gathered in a drive last weekend by members of the Kennedy Youth Corps.

With them was Gary Townsend, 22, of Alhambra, who headed the campaign among members of the youth group formed for the primary campaign. He said the drive will continue and that more than a million signatures are expected within the next week.

TOWNSEND, a student at Los Angeles State College, said copies of the petitions will be submitted to the White House, the governor's office and to members of Congress and the state Legislature.

Most of the signatures were from Los Angeles County, and Unruh said they included the entire staff of the Ambassador Hotel, where Kennedy was fatally shot. About 25,000 were from Orange County and another 100,000 are being collected from Northern California.

Unruh said one petition had stapled to it the National Rifle Association membership card of one of the signers.

Artesia Freeway Link Started

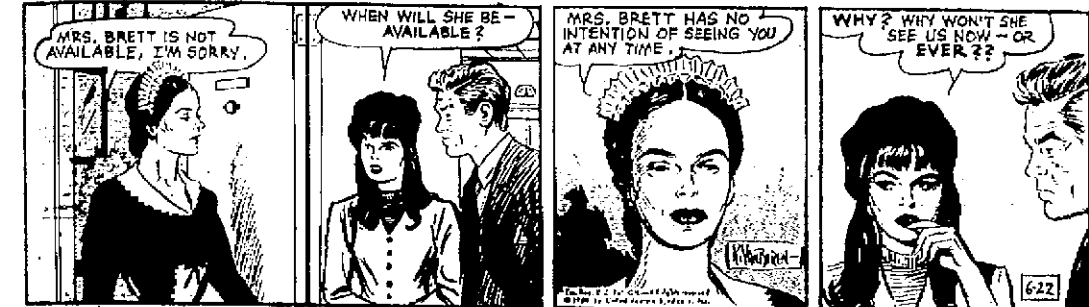

From Our L.A. Bureau
Construction has begun to link the Artesia Freeway (Route 91) with the Santa Ana Freeway in Orange County. A State Highways Division spokesman reported the project covers construction of one mile of eight-lane freeway between Beach Boulevard in Buena Park and the Santa Ana Freeway in Anaheim and Fullerton.
The project, due for completion in 1970, includes addition of auxiliary lanes on the Santa Ana Freeway between Fullerton Creek and Brookhurst Street.
Although the $4.5-million freeway addition already is under way, the official groundbreaking ceremonies will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday near the intersection of Page Avenue and Thomas Street in Buena Park. Walter Knott, Knott's Berry Farm founder, will speak.

Four other Artesia Freeway projects are under construction west of Beach Boulevard. They extend to Lakewood Boulevard in Bellflower. Funds also have been budgeted for another leg of the freeway through North Long Beach as far west as the Long Beach Freeway.
Work on the North Long Beach phase may be under way this fall, stated a division bulletin. Ultimately the Artesia-Riverside (Route 91) freeway complex is to extend 65 miles from Hermosa Beach to Riverside.

DANGER LURKS IN TINDER-DRY SANTA ANA MOUNTAIN BRUSH AREAS
Fire Prevention Officer Mike Walsh Calls Attention to Warning Signs

Brush Fire Conditions Bad, Worst Yet to Come

Fire conditions in Southern California's brush-covered areas were described Friday — start of the summer season — as "bad, with the worst yet to come."

Even as the somber warning was issued by chiefs of Southland county, regional and municipal fire departments, two blazes broke out of control in the Newhall and Gorman regions north of Los Angeles.

Since the beginning of this year, more than 4,800 separate grass and brush fires have been reported to Los Angeles County and L.A. City departments, with damage ranging from a few square feet of blackened grass to 1,000-plus acres of scorched brushland.

Above-normal rainfall last fall and winter spurred grass-brush growth, but sparse precipitation this spring has dried the lush cover and created hazardous fire conditions, officials said.

Chief Keith E. Klinger of Los Angeles County observed that the first major brush fire of 1967 did not occur until August, while already this year thousands of acres of valuable watershed have been burned over.

CSLB Graduate Rejects U.S. Citizenship

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

When 3,700 graduates of California State College at Long Beach stood to have their degrees conferred on them at the Arena last Saturday, Tony Formo was not among them.

Formo — bachelor's degree in psychology, 1968, student body treasurer, recipient of the college's coveted 49er Award — was already in Canada, renouncing his American citizenship.

"Formo, 22, is one of the hundreds of draft-age Americans who followed their consciences north to a new life.

"Being an American is nice, but not quite as nice as being a human being," Formo told student leaders before leaving.

"No one who goes in the Army can say he's not partially responsible for napalming kids."

Formo is the opposite of the image most Americans hold of students refusing military service.

He was considered by campus deans the most effective treasurer in the college's history. He kept a B-plus grade average through his college career and scorned the rash of radical campus political activity this year.

So why is Formo renouncing his citizenship?

"Not because I'm afraid of getting killed in Vietnam," he said. "I'm far more afraid of prostituting my own values."

"It would have been easy for me to join the Army and get a military desk job. Three years and it would be over. In going to Canada, I'm making a decision I'll have to live with for the rest of my life."

It's not just American involvement in an Asian land war that repels Formo, but the nation's whole scheme of values.

"If they abolished the draft tomorrow, I think I'd still go," he said. "People here live for money and there's a hell of a lot of things more important. I value mind over money."

The former student body treasurer says he'll step into a job as psychology research assistant at the University of Toronto this summer, and begin work on his doctorate in theoretical psychology and thought processes.

His study of psychology is one factor leading to his break with America, and he often describes his irritation with the nation in psychological language.

"The ghetto riots, the assassinations and extremist activity on campus all show the failure of the American system — an increasing number of people find it more expedient and therapeutic to work outside it."

"So many people are rebelling against the system, I think within five years America will have a major choice between anarchy and fascism. I want to be some other place when that happens," Formo said.

"Joining the resistance or groups like the Students for a Democratic Society is asinine as copping out to the system — it's just another type of conformity. The new left's ideals are better, but their methods are worse."

Formo, however, does not scorn all involvement in public affairs.

During his four years at Cal-State Long Beach, he pioneered the "Class Struggle" handbook which evaluates professors and classes, served as student senator and elections commissioner and initiated campus "bitch-ins," faculty seminars and a limited pass-fail grading system.

As treasurer, he directed a radical reallocation of student body funds, cutting athletics, conventions and awards to provide money to double the speakers budget and allow the college newspaper to expand to four editions each week.

He spent more than eight hours per day directing the spending of the student body's half-million dollar budget, while living on $100 a month himself.

Formo saw a vast difference between the Associated Students "system" and the American political system.

"At the college you can make the system work," he said. "With the American political system, by the time you work up to where you can do something, you've compromised yourself so much there's nothing you can do."

"Canada's no panacea, but at least its psychological hang-ups are mostly over harmless matters such as whether they should have a maple leaf on their flag. Americans think there's something wrong with people who hold peace more important than American nationalism."

His move to Canada won't be his first major change in life — he came to Long Beach after living 18 years in Seattle.

Formo said his friends on campus reacted "completely favorably" to his decision.

"But I told my parents over Easter vacation. Within the hour I was at the Seattle airport catching a plane back to Long Beach. My father's a typical liberal — he threw me out of his house."

Formo said he didn't apply for conscientious objector status because he is not opposed to all wars, just the Vietnam war.

"If I couldn't go to Canada, I'd go to jail," he said. "At least in jail you can follow your own conscience. In Canada, you can live with your conscience and do what you want."

"But I don't think anyone should go to Canada just because they're afraid to go to Vietnam," he said. "It's a choice that requires profound philosophical commitment — a choice you'll have to live with for the rest of your life. Once you've renounced your American citizenship, you'll never get it back."

A FLYING MACHINE

Douglas Eyes Paris Model

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

A French model is being imported from Paris to teach Americans a new thing or two about the flying business.

This came to light Friday in Long Beach in an announcement by McDonnell Douglas Corp.

The aerospace company and Eastern Airlines will put the visitor to work on a project which could lead to better air-commuter service in the 1970s.

Specifically, the model is a four-engine Breguet 941 turboprop aircraft, to be used in demonstrating the feasibility of high-capacity, short-field planes on heavily-traveled routes.

McDonnell Douglas will furnish the 64-passenger Breguet transport for the experiment later this summer on East Coast intercity shuttle runs. The plane is said to be the forerunner of larger, more advanced McDonnell Douglas aircraft being designed for airline operation in the next decade.

The demonstrations by both Eastern and McDonnell Douglas flight crews will last approximately seven weeks, starting in August, on EAL routes between Boston and Washington via the New York City area.

The Breguet propjet, with special high-lift wing devices and a unique arrangement permitting any combination of its turbine engines to drive all four propellers, will be known as the McDonnell Douglas Model 188 for demonstration purposes.

Chief aim of the test is to prove that planes of this type, operating from small airfields or from special runways at existing airports, can reduce congestion at busy metropolitan centers by removing short-haul intercity traffic from facilities used by aircraft on longer flights.

The short-field aircraft, with rapid climb and descent capabilities, also is considerably quieter than jet equipment now used on East Coast shuttle runs, according to Marvin D. Marks, McDonnell Douglas project manager.

A. Scott Crossfield, Eastern Airlines test project manager, said no revenue passengers will be carried on the experimental flights, but that data from the tests will be used in designing the advanced McDonnell Douglas transports.

The design work is now under the direction of Sanford N. McDonnell, president of McDonnell Aircraft Co. at St. Louis, a division of McDonnell Douglas Corp.

Marks said the Breguet test plane will be flown to St. Louis from Paris late in July for outfitting with special instrumentation.

Owner Ground-Checks Flying 'Bird'

Tom Reese, 31, of 966 E. 25th St., is happy that his 1962-model sport sedan has settled down after a car-raising experience on East Third Street between Long Beach Boulevard and Locust Avenue. The vehicle was bumped skyward more than a foot when oversized "manhole" cover beneath it erupted from explosion of an underground Edison Co. electrical transformer. Owner Reese is less happy about the possible damage to his recently-painted car, including stains from the plume of oily smoke witnesses said mushroomed from the blast.

Hearing Set in Car-Lot Slaying Case

A North Long Beach man faces preliminary hearing in Westminster Municipal District Court Monday on charges of murdering a Cyprus bar patron during a parking lot brawl.

Michael Larry Wright, 23, of 820 Via Wanda, is being held without bail in Orange County Jail, Santa Ana.

He is accused of shooting Johnny P. Oliveira, 21, of 8581 Belmont St., Cypress, climaxing a Wednesday morning argument at the Squirrel Cage Bar, 4132 Lincoln Ave.

Another patron, Thomas Lee Williamson, 21, of Pacoima, was wounded slightly in the arm.

Wright and three companions were arrested by La Palma police minutes after the shooting.

Wright was charged with murder when Oliveira died three hours after being shot in the head.

Wright's three companions — all released — were Kenneth P. McDonald, 23, of 711 E. Eighth St., Long Beach; Walter Fristed, 25, of 790 Via Wanda, Long Beach, and his wife Billie Edna, 20.

Car Burglars Get TV, Fishing Gear

Joan J. Biondi, of 3713 Studebaker Road, told police Friday burglars broke into her car and removed fishing gear and a portable television set valued at $275.

Orange Co. Sets Harbor Meeting

The Orange County League of Cities meets Monday to consider legislation calling for a vote of the people on its demand that the county's harbor district be dissolved.

The county Board of Supervisors has rejected the League's demand and pledged remodeling and streamlining of the harbor district.

Mayor Dean Shull, of La Habra, league president, who termed the supervisors' action "unsatisfactory," called a special session of his executive board of mayors for Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Friedemann Hall, Orange.

HE SAID THE MAYORS will try to use a bill by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton, to scrap the present harbor set-up in favor of a county department which also would handle beaches, parks and recreation.

Such a county department would be administered directly by the county supervisors and be financed through general government taxes.

The harbor district now has a five-man commission and its own tax rate, currently 9.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. This rate may drop to nine cents next fiscal year.

Assemblyman Briggs — who has his bill up for hearing Wednesday in Sacramento — said it could be amended to provide a public vote on the issue in the November general election.

Douglas Issued Addition Permit

A permit for $350,000 addition to the Douglas Aircraft Co. plant at 2401 E. Wardlow Road has been issued by the City Building Department.

The permit covers the addition of 26,400 square feet in the steel and composition building.

Doctor Ruled Guilty of Claims Gyp

An Anaheim doctor was convicted Friday of six counts of forging patients' names to insurance claims of $150 to $250. The jury verdict ended a week-long trial in Santa Ana Superior Court.

The doctor, Dr. Sidney Kottler, said he will appeal. He is to return before Judge Robert Gardner July 9 for sentencing.

Meanwhile, the Orange County probation department, on direction of the judge, will prepare a presentencing report.

Prosecutor Joe Dickerson said the physician told insurance carriers to send money to him at his office. The prosecutor showed the forgery continued over a year. He did not show how many claims were filed.

Dr. Kottler was arrested Oct. 10 in his office after patients complained to police. He is an endocrinologist, a specialist in internal secretions and endocrine glands.

They Meet to Adjourn

An emergency meeting of the Torrance Planning Commission has been called for 7 p.m. Monday in the city building inspector's offices at City Hall, it was learned Friday.

The special meeting is to discuss only the status report of the city's master plan, apartment development standards and for consideration of a motion to revise a motion by Kenny Uyeda on commission adjournment.

Union Seeking to Void City's 'Mary' Contract

A union representative filed suit in Los Angeles Superior Court Friday to void a contract made by the City of Long Beach for removal of furnishings and equipment from the Queen Mary.

The suit was filed by Donald E. Graves on behalf of AFL-CIO Local 507 of the Laborers International Union of North America.

Charles Greenberg of the city attorney's office said the city had not yet been served with papers in the suit.

The suit charges a May 25 contract with Lipsitt Inc. was made without proper public notice and therefore was an illegal use of public money.

UNDER the contract, Lipsitt was to receive $454,000 to remove furniture, machinery and other equipment from the luxury liner — first step in the $3-million conversion of the ship into a maritime museum and hotel.

The suit, filed by attorney Lionel Richman, charges Long Beach failed to post the public notice inviting bids for the job at least twice prior to their opening.

It also charges workers are not being paid prevailing wage rates as ordered by a 1967 city resolution. Under the resolution, boilermakers were to receive $6 per hour and laborers $3.85. The suit contends boilermakers and laborers working for Lipsitt are paid $2.77 per hour.

Graves claims Long Beach has done this to enable Lipsitt to be the low bidder on the public job and has deprived other companies willing to pay the prevailing rate of the job bid.

The suit seeks a court order declaring the Lipsitt contract null and void and halting payment of public funds.

State Text Suit Hits Downey

The State Board of Education filed suit in Los Angeles Superior Court Friday to force the Downey Unified School District to use the controversial eighth-grade history textbook "Land of the Free."

The Downey Board of Education already has a suit pending seeking a ruling that it need not use the book.

The state contends Downey plans to use the book "Story of the American Nation" for the fall semester, and seeks an injunction to stop its use.

The second book was ordered used by the state board for four years prior to July 1, 1967, when "Land of the Free" was approved. Critics of "Land of the Free" contend it is "politically slanted to liberalism," treats communism too tolerantly and gives too much space to the contribution Negroes have made to American history.

Cyclist, San Pedro Girl Die of Traffic Injuries

Traffic accidents claimed the lives Friday of a 23-year-old Costa Mesa cyclist and an 18-year-old San Pedro girl.

Daniel Twigg, of 114 E. 23rd St., Costa Mesa, died at 12:45 p.m. from injuries suffered when he was knocked off his bicycle by a car Thursday as he crossed Main Street at Ulica Avenue in Huntington Beach.

Twigg, who is survived by his wife Alice, died in the intensive-care unit of Huntington Intercommunity Hospital. Driver of the car, James Johnson, 16, of 9948 Cornwall Drive, Huntington Beach, was not held.

Officers said Twigg had no lights on his bicycle.

Marie A. Weintraub, of 2128 Toscana Drive, San Pedro, died at 2:40 p.m. Friday from injuries suffered in an earlier accident.

Officers said Miss Weintraub's vehicle collided with a car driven by Norma S. Jensen, 60, of Houston, Tex., as the Jensen vehicle attempted to turn left from Harbor Boulevard onto Swinford Street.

LONG BEACH MARINE KILLED IN VIETNAM

Three Southland Marines are listed by the Defense Department among latest American combat casualties in Vietnam.

Killed in action were Cpl. Randall T. Planchon II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald T. Planchon of 4205 Locust Ave., Long Beach; 1st Lt. Stephen D. Joyner, son of Mrs. June B. Joyner, 1051 Stearns Ave., La Habra, and Gunnery Sgt. William F. Gunset, whose wife, Jequetta A., resides at 18916 Cerise Ave., Torrance.

Reported earlier was the combat death of Santa Ana soldier, Spec. 4 George S. Hadzega, whose wife, Ellen J., resides at 905 W. Occidental Ave.

Marine Lance Cpl. Robert C. Ewald, of 1614 Myrtlewood St., Costa Mesa, was reported dead of nonhostile cause.

ACLU PLANS HONOR FOR REV. WILLIAMS

REV. HARVEY WILLIAMS

Rev. Harvey Williams, president of the Community Improvement League of Long Beach, will receive the Man of the Year award from the American Civil Liberties Union today.

Rev. Williams, co-chairman of the Long Beach Urban Coalition, will be honored at the home of Mrs. Forrest Peters, 667 Los Altos Ave., at 8:30 p.m.

During the event, poet-author Christopher Isherwood will speak on "The Right to Dissent."

Isherwood, famous for his novels, plays and translations of Oriental religious works, has written "Lions and Shadows," "The Single Man" and "Meeting by the River."

The English-born writer coauthored the play, "Ascend of the F-6," with poet W. H. Auden. Isherwood has traveled widely throughout Europe and Asia and is an authority on Eastern religion.

SOUTHLAND COMPASSION COMES TO AID OF PARENTS

Dedicated Doctor Saves Tot's Life

By TONY CILLO
Staff Writer

Wonder what three-month-old Stephanie Odom would say if she could talk?

Would she tell how much whooping cough hurts, or about a doctor who stayed up all night with her when she was sick, or all about all her new friends in California?

Stephanie will soon be home, doing all the little things a three-month-old baby does. She'll smile, she'll gurgle, she'll sleep, she'll cry.

And every movement, every expression will be a joy to her young parents. Perhaps even more of a joy than for other young mothers and fathers with their first born.

Because not long ago, Stephanie's parents were certain they would no longer have her. The child was so near death, her grandfather came to see her—possibly for the last time.

But Stephanie did not die. She will be going home—home to Texas—Monday.

And later, when Stephanie is older, her dad, former Marine Gordon Odom, 22, and her mother, Sandra, 21, will tell Stephanie about how one bit of kindness leads to another, and how when things seem as bad as they can be, there's always someone who cares.

Someone like the girl who wrote to the Odoms: "I asked my father what he would like for Father's Day and he said to send you the money that we would otherwise spend on him.

"He is a veteran of World War II and thought a veteran of Vietnam deserved help and encouragement."

"This gift is from my brother, sister and me."

Or, someone like the expectant Long Beach mother who wrote: "My husband is now serving in Vietnam with the Navy. We are expecting our first child in September, so while reading your story, it was reading to picture ourselves in your position."

"If you ever come to Long Beach, please feel welcome to stop at our home. The coffee pot is always hot. Also, if you need anything else please let me know. My thoughts are with you."

Those Southlanders—and other like them—responded to the Odoms' need for help—with donations of more than $1,300.

Their help means Stephanie will be able to go back to Texas with her mother on an airplane.

A long time ago—it seems that way at least to the Odoms—the combat veteran and his wife thought there was no place to turn. Faced with mounting hospital bills, doctor, nursing bills, they ran out of money.

They didn't qualify for financial help through normal channels.

But, after their problem was described in an Independent, Press-Telegram story, Southlanders overwhelmed the young family with encouraging letters and donations.

Now that Stephanie's better, the Odoms are picking up the plans interrupted May 19 when she became critically ill.

Odom will drive back to Agua Dulce, Tex., where he has a job waiting for him. He still hopes to arrive in time to register for college.

Odom says he will take with him memories of "some fine people around here."

About Dr. Dennis Fineberg, of Huntington Intercommunity Hospital, the doctor who sat up with Stephanie that first night, Odom can't say enough.

"Not only is he a good man, he's a great doctor," Odom said of Fineberg. "If it hadn't been for him, she wouldn't have lived."

Odom also has high praise for Mrs. Louise Rosenbloom, who works in the hospital business office, for her efforts to find help for the young couple.

For the Odoms, the wish of a Long Beach woman who wrote and sent financial help is coming true.

She said in her letter, "I'm enclosing this small check because I feel that I owe Mr. Odom more than I can ever repay for the time he spent in Vietnam."

"... I hope your baby recovers soon and the world looks brighter to you both."

$415,000 Street Work Plans OK'd by L.B. Council

Plans for an estimated $415,000 street improvement project in the vicinity of Spring Street between Lakewood Boulevard and Bellflower Boulevard have been approved by the City Council.

The work also will involve the reconstruction of Clark Avenue between Spring and Wardlow Road, of Bellflower Boulevard for several hundred feet north of Spring, and of a divider island near Carson Street.

The contract includes plans for storm drains in both Clark and Bellflower between Spring and Pagentry streets. The County Flood Control District will finance the estimated $77,000 cost of the storm drains.

The Spring Street reconstruction will result in two 35-foot roadways, separated by a 14-foot-wide raised island, which will be provided with a sprinkler system.

Sprinkler systems will also be installed along the southerly side of Spring Street, adjacent to Los Cerritos Drainage Channel, between Lakewood and Bellflower, and in the existing island which separates the north side of the street from the service road between Clark and Bellflower.

The existing deteriorated pavement in Bellflower north of Spring will be removed and replaced with four inches of asphalt, concrete, and divider islands with left-turn lanes will be constructed at Spring Street and the alley north of Spring.

CLARK AVENUE will be reconstructed to a 78-foot-wide roadway, and the easterly portion of the intersection of Clark and Pagentry will be rebuilt to eliminate a cross gutter.

The finished roadway will be striped with a 12-foot painted median, with provisions for left turns at Spring, Pagentry, Mezzanine Way and Wardlow. There will be three travel lanes on each side of the median.

Landscaping of the areas where sprinklers are to be installed will be deferred until construction is completed, and will be handled under another contract.

Lakewood Budget Hearing

A Lakewood city budget for fiscal 1968-69 totaling $6.9 million will receive a public hearing at 8 p.m. Tuesday during the regular city council meeting.

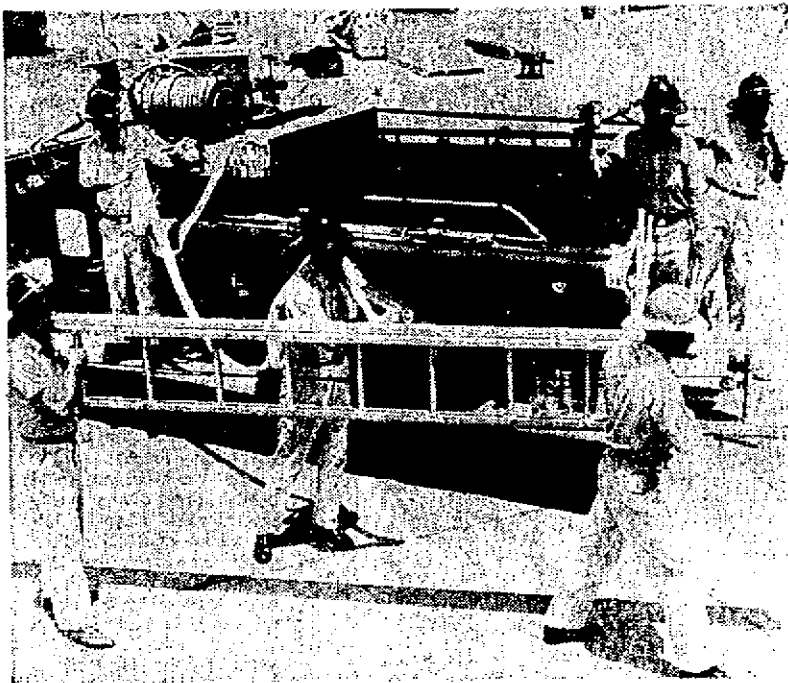

The proposed budget, although 25 per cent higher than the current budget, would mean a decrease in the city property tax which now stands at 10 cents per assessed $100 valuation.

This is because the new budget proposes that the amount of money raised from property taxes will be $135,000 compared with $225,000 for the current year.

Actual setting of the property tax rate in Lakewood will not be completed until August, after county assessment figures are received.

PRISON FIRE BRIGADE IN ACTION ON TERMINAL ISLAND
Inmates at Federal Correctional Institution Man Volunteer Squad

Prison Fire Fighters Go Like Gangbusters

By DICK EMERY

On a 23-acre square of Terminal Island, Uncle Sam runs a prison called the Federal Correctional Institution. It has a population of some 950 inmates, serving time for breaking laws of one kind or another on federal property. The sentences range from 30 days to life.

Ever since 1955, the institution has kept its own fire brigade, a group of eight or nine inmates trained by Los Angeles City Fire Department instructors. The brigade has a fire engine and other equipment for fast attack on unwanted blazes.

Over the years, of course, the brigade's membership often changes. Old members go home and new members must be trained. From time to time, the brigade hustles out on an alarm in the prison—usually a small fire in the kitchen or laundry.

At noon one recent day, fire erupted in a Quonset hut inside the prison walls.

The hut is a storage place for 300 gallons of highly explosive and flammable liquids. Close by stands a big propane gas storage tank.

The fire alarm brought the brigade on the double, and the first man there, fully aware of the great hazard involved, entered the hut and fought the fire with CO2 extinguishers. He and another member then soaked down the area with water hoses to assure complete quenching.

An official report of the incident, filed by R. W. Smith, the institution's safety officer, said the prompt action "did preserve many thousands of dollars worth of government property" and prevented a possible explosion which "could have resulted in the loss of many lives."

The Los Angeles City Fire Department later sent a delegation of its top officers to the Terminal Island institution to commend the brigade, to present a plant protection plaque to Warden G. V. Richardson, and to give a special commendation card to a tall and husky inmate, Roger L. Hahzer, who made the primary attack on the storage hut blaze.

City OKs Large Oil Lease at Airport, Skylinks Course

The City Council has voted to enter into a community oil and gas lease covering 881 acres in and adjacent to the easterly portion of Long Beach Airport.

Mineral rights in the area are owned by the city, by McDonnell Douglas Corp. and by Louis H. Boyar and several associates.

Councilmen approved a lease with Home-Stake Production Co. and Amerada Petroleum Corp. for exploration of the field, which underlies Sky Links Golf Course, Veterans Memorial Stadium and the Douglas plant.

The Boyar group has the largest holdings, 419 acres, or 47.5 per cent of the area. The city owns 214.8 acres, or 24.3 per cent, and Douglas owns 246.7 acres, or 28 per cent.

The lessees will pay as royalties 25 per cent of the gross revenue, plus 25 per cent of net profits.

Councilman Raymond K. Kealer, chairman of the council's harbor, industries and oil committee, which had recommended the lease, called it an "excellent" one.

Boyar has held drilling rights on two five-acre parcels of city-owned airport land, both along the former alignment of Lakewood Boulevard, one north and one south of Donald Douglas Drive.

In consideration for the lease arrangements, Boyar has agreed to quitclaim his rights to the city on the southerly five-acre site and on three acres of the north-easterly site. The remaining two-acre site will be used to explore the airport field.

Kealer said even if the exploratory well should fail to find oil, the city would be acquiring eight acres of land for airport use at no cost.

Bellflower Boy Poster Winner

Johnny Ware, third-grader at Bellflower's Ramona School, has won third place in the primary division of the national poster contest sponsored by the American Automobile Association.

His drawing, with cross-walk safety as theme, will be reproduced by AAA for distribution to schools throughout the country, officials said.

Don D. Hoffman, safety consultant for the Automobile Club of Southern California, presented the boy a certificate of appreciation for his efforts.

$5 Million Slated for L.B. Roads

From Our L.A. Bureau

The county has budgeted $5 million for road construction in the Long Beach area, Supervisor Burton W. Chase said Friday.

Chase, noting that 23 per cent of the county's $81 million highway construction budget is slated for his coastal Fourth Supervisorial District, said the Long Beach area projects include:

—Willow Street, Long Beach Boulevard to Studebaker Road, $2.1 million.

—Carson Street, San Diego Freeway to Santa Fe Avenue, $900,000.

—Lomita Boulevard, Normandie Avenue to Alameda Street, $474,000.

—Vermont Avenue, 223rd Street to Lomita Boulevard, $412,000.

—Western Avenue, San Diego Freeway to 25th Street, $172,000.

—Alondra Boulevard, Harris Street to Frailay Avenue, $411,000.

—Avalon City, $400,000.

—Wilmington Avenue, El Segundo Boulevard to 137th Street, $152,000.

—Rosecrans Avenue, Los Angeles River to Century Boulevard, $105,000.

Disagreeing With the National Body

By LES RODNEY

"Every year," observed a minister from Wilmington on the long hot line inching toward the University of Redlands cafeteria for lunch, "there's a different atmosphere and temper about this convention, even though it's mostly the same people. I guess we Methodists are unpredictable."

A reporter making his annual one-day visit to the weeklong meeting of the Southern California-Arizona Conference of the Methodist Church, its 118th (his fourth, not his 118th), might be inclined to agree.

Whereas last year was marked by prolonged and highly charged debate, this Tuesday morning session in 1968 had almost routinely passed two "loaded" resolutions—one urging the right of selective conscientious objection to a particular war, the other asking a milder option for judges than a felony conviction on some marijuana violations.

THE FIRST one put Southland Methodism on record in opposition to the national United Methodist Church position voted just two months ago in Dallas, where the general board nixed approval of the right of conscience on a particular war. (They are all talking about Vietnam, of course.)

Thus, for better or worse, the local conference, which includes 487 churches and 267,000 members, fully restored its one-time reputation as the controversial cutting edge of the national denomination.

It's not that the 1,300 delegates—half clergy and half lay leaders—weren't paying attention. The questions came up bright in early in the morning, not at the end of a long day. There was discussion, and some thoughtful amending. But nothing very contentious. The vote on both was overwhelming, almost routine.

Since it created this very interesting split of opinion between a national body and one of its strongest components, the Vietnam resolutions worth looking into. This is what it's about:

To be considered for conscientious objector status, a young man must document through personal testimony and the witness of others that he is either forbidden through his own church's beliefs to bear arms, or personally has seen all war as evil in the sight of God, well before the current conflict. (The latter is not easy, but there have been deferments granted.) These have the established backing of America's churches, with the proviso of alternate service of some kind.

BUT, ASKED the Southland Methodist resolution, "What of the honest but troubled individual who sincerely believes the Vietnam war to be immoral, but who cannot honestly say, as required by selective service to secure exemption, that all war is evil, or that his objectives are religious rather than . . . philosophical views, or a merely personal moral code?"

The alternatives for them are stiff prison terms or flight from their native land. Calling this "an impossible quandary of conscience," the resolution asks for provisions in the law to recognize individual conscience on the particular war.

Only one major national denomination, the United Church of Christ, has taken this stand. The Southern California Council of Churches has passed a similar resolution. It has been rejected by others, including the United Presbyterian Church.

The arguments of those Christians opposed to this "selective conscientious objection," in addition to the difficulty in proving sincerity, is that it's a heck of a way to run a country's defense when young men are free to pick and choose which wars they will agree to fight in. And what's good enough for some has to be good enough for all. Proponents counter that while this is a sound proposition, the Vietnam War presents a special case of agonized conscience, a war whose morality is widely and deeply questioned in a land divided as never before by a conflict. They hold the honoring of a man's right to stand on profoundly held conscientious belief to be basic to Christianity.

"Well, here we go!" whispered Dr. Russell Clay of Leisure World Community Church as the first delegate stepped to one of the floor mikes after presentation of the resolution. He meant big fireworks.

It didn't happen. The speaker, not disagreeing with the resolution, merely pointed out that "some of us have sons in the service" and, after the section of the resolution reading "Some, believing that force is necessary to maintain peace, and that American efforts in Vietnam contribute in this direction, will conscientiously accept their term of duty in the combatant forces," he proposed adding the words "The church must show continuing love and concern for them." This was immediately agreed to by the framers, as expressing the resolution's intent.

PART OF the reason for the lack of visible heat on the "far out" resolution may be found in its own honest presentation, freely conceding the difficult and touchy nature of the subject, plus the resolution's careful qualifications of what it backed and what it didn't. Its complete lack of any semblance of simplistic anti-American tone, its unmistakable prayerful stress on the tradition of sincere personal conscience. There are 62 members of the Peace and Order World Commission, and the vote of the committee members on the proposed resolution was 56 for, 1 against, 5 abstaining.

The resolution's opening section said, in part: "We want to know what is truly best for our nation, especially in the light of our deep moral qualms over our military involvement in Southeast Asia. Every loyal citizen has an obligation to his country in return for the blessings and opportunities which citizenship affords. In the present turmoil it is imperative that Christians take a constructive attitude by finding an area of service in which we can creatively serve instead of merely flaunting dissent."

The crux of the troublesome and delicate matter is presented this way:

"While we cannot approve or condone those who claim the position of a conscientious objector as a cover for their personal withdrawal from society as a whole or evasion of responsibility as citizens, and while we feel the distinction needs to be made constantly between those who are objecting to war and to those who are primarily objecting to established political structures, we do honor the witness of those who sincerely seek to disassociate themselves from a war which they feel is morally unjustifiable.

"Whether their judgment on the present military operation is right or wrong, their very act is an evidence that at long last mankind is beginning to develop a responsible personal conscience about war. If the world is ever to be saved from itself, societies and individuals must develop sensitized consciences against brutality and killing and build strength of character to resist an all-pervading militarism. We understand the dilemma of government . . . (but) . . . We would hope that America, with its tradition of belief in the sovereignty of the conscience, might lead in such a movement."

IN A CHAT afterward, Rev. Thomas Pendell of First Methodist of Anaheim, who headed the committee, and Dr. Harvey Seifert, professor of social ethics at the School of Theology, Claremont, who backed the resolution, readily conceded that determining sincerity was a real problem, but said this was true of all conscientious objection, and procedures have been worked out. They also made clear in response to questioning that the action in no way counsels or advises young men to disobey the laws, but seeks a change in the draft to meet the new situation, and also pledges the church to help see that truly challenging alternate service to the nation is provided for such individuals.

Sighed one area cleric later under the broiling Redlands sun: "There's always the temptation to think, now why did we have to get INTO this. But then, really, what contribution would the church ever make if it spoke only after checking the Gallup polls?"

NOT EVERYTHING was on the grim or troublesome side. By no means. There's always a casual friendliness, a huddling of salty humor running through these shirt-sleeved sessions of men and women not that far removed from the hard-riding frontier buoyancy of their Bible-toting ancestors in simpler times.

Pungent phrases. "A youth generation born without navels . . ." How's that for describing those with no attachment to the past.

There was one commission head who made his brief report on alcohol problem work a sheer delight. He was introduced as someone who annually complained about his lack of sufficient time, but this year was given a couple more minutes. So he stepped briskly to the mike and began "And now in conclusion . . ."

After some rapidfire though interesting facts, he continued "We are, as you see, less rigid and more—the only word I could think of here was fluid, but that doesn't seem right." Even statistics were made easy to take when he stuccoed that there was "a 24.6 percent increase in contributions for the fight against alcoholism and it says long, sustained applause in here but we don't have time for that . . ."

To ministers from Southern California who winced at the possibility of a transfer to a town in Arizona, he got a rueful laugh when he mentioned having lived in Arizona two years, "but I didn't consider that living."

Before the laugh died down he turned it the other way when he went on: "It's the air there, bright and crisp and clear. I don't care for that sort of thing. I live in Pasadena. I like to SEE what I breathe."

TWO LITTLE statistics of more than passing interest gleaned from a report. Southland Methodists give about 40 per cent more financial support per member to their churches than the national average for the denomination—$90.84 compared to approximately $65. Number of full members of Conference churches—267,146, and average attendance at Sunday morning worship—113,188.

Heard some evidence of unrest about the anticipated large number of shifts in ministerial assignments (officially announced Friday night at the convention's close), though the rumbling grumbles could be much exaggerated as an incipient "revolt." More like Army grumbling. One minister did stick his neck out and state candidly that he would reject a switch from his church in North Long Beach, where he feels his work is not completed, to the larger First Methodist of Downey. Clearly the Methodist system of central appointments of pastors is being questioned. Well, what isn't?

One minister at Redlands eagerly looking forward to a new challenge as Rev. John Gattis, educational director at Los Altos Methodist. He revealed he is heading for Nashville headquarters where he will work with the denomination's Division of the Local Church of Education. His particular field will be how to conduct a ministry for junior high school youngsters, and leadership training. The en-

CONFIDENT LIVING Fed Up With Knocking of U.S.

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I for one am getting fed up with the popular indoor sport of running America down. Many so-called intellectuals seem to be in on the act. Reading and listening to them you come to think that no matter what anyone else in the world does we Americans can do it worse. Personally I think there is quite a lot right with this country and its people — and in this column we mean to say so.

One gripe I have is the slander of American youth which is being popularized. Why isn't more being said about the vast number of good kids in this country — kids who take baths, who have hair cuts, who do not use drugs? There are incredible numbers of American young people who have ideals and the guts to stick to them. And they have a lot of fun being that way, too.

BUT MAYBE we ought to be glad the drug addicts and longhairs get the publicity. As long as they are news it represents an aberration of the normal. But if it were news to come across a clean-cut, bathed, non-smelly youth, then we would be in a bad way indeed. As long as the funny-looking shaggy news it proves that the steady young crowd is still the big majority. But why doesn't someone just once in a while pat this crowd on the back and give thanks for them. I do that, here and now!

Young people are not as immoral as they are painted either. To read the same old stories about them that clutter up magazines of today you get the notion that sex is their big purpose in living; that only for this were they born. It reduces people to cattle.

"Am I a dope? What is wrong with me? Am I some kind of oddball?" These sharp questions were put to me by an attractive 20-year old girl. "I met a boy," she continued, "and about the second date he told me he loved me and wanted me to go to a motel. When I told him straight out to forget it, he announced he was through with me. What about it?" she asked.

"Well," I replied, "that love bit was as phony as your boy friend himself. He is just on the make. He couldn't care less for you beyond your body — and you are a lot more than that. Aren't you?"

"I'll say I am," she replied. "I'm a human being with a soul and a mind."

"Yes, I interrupted, "and with a lot of sense and guts, too. You're really somebody if you ask me."

I might add that she soon met a real boy friend, one on the up and up, and wedding bells are about to ring. And are they happy that they played it straight!

There are more young people of this sort in this country than you may have been led to think — and don't let anyone tell you otherwise.

A FINAL thing I'm fed up with is the canard that true marriage is a passe concept. If you believed all you hear and read you would think there are no happy marriages, that there is a sour factor in just about all of them. Purveyors of dirt have spread the lie that marriages of fidelity and happiness scarcely exist any more. So these characters sneeringly write off marriage itself.

But anyone who really knows the score knows for a fact that there are millions of dignified, decent families in this country; homes where love and happiness are uppermost. The number of husbands who love their wives and wives who love their husbands; marriages in which fidelity and comradeship continues and grows across the years — run into the millions. They never get into the scandal columns because there is no scandal in their lives.

So get yourself a good case of the fed-ups and you'll have a clearer picture of real life today.

Guest Pastor Turned Down Pro Football

Rev. David L. Burnham, pastor of a 2,800-member independent Baptist church in Akron, Ohio, will be guest at all Sunday services at First Baptist of Lakewood — 9 and 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Three times voted "Little All American" football player in college, he was drafted by the pro Washington Redskins, but turned it down to follow his father into the ministry. He explains: "The thrills I received on the athletic field, though great, are not to be compared with the thrills I have received living my life for Jesus Christ."

The youthful pastor has conducted evangelistic crusades in the Orient, South Africa and the Caribbean. He was also an observer at the World Congress of Evangelism in Germany in 1966. In 1966, John Brown University awarded him an honorary doctorate of divinity degree, and he is completing work on his Ph.D.

The local church is located at 5336 Arbor Road.

Resurrection City Hit, Next Merger, Complaint

IN AN EDITORIAL article entitled "Fiasco at Resurrection City," the magazine Christianity Today takes a tough look at the Poor People's campaign, saying they "turned an elm-shaded grassy park . . . into fifteen acres of debris and scarred ground" and are similarly "making a sham of their campaign to boost the cause of low income groups."

"Belligerent demands and irrational and illegal tactics are antagonizing rather than influencing" officials and the public, the conservative evangelical fortnightly believes. It hopes the marchers will leave when their permit expires, but "if they choose not to do so, we feel appropriate steps should be taken to prevent their continued encampment on federal property."

To the extent that "legitimate food or economic problems qualifying for government existence exist," the article says, "Poor People's campaigners can render a distinct service by calling them to the attention of local, state and federal officials. The American people are more than willing to help . . ."

But, "Campaigners who misrepresent the severity of the poverty problem, persist in implacable demands, and maintain a pugnacious stand do harm to the cause of the truly disadvantaged and sow disunity among people . . ."

"Men," it concludes, "must abandon their angry efforts to build resurrection cities and follow the spirit of the Resurrected Christ . . ."

NEXT MERGING of Protestant bodies now appears certain to be that of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and the Reformed Church in America, by 1970 after all the processes of ratification have been gone through.

Let's see what denominations we are talking about. The Presbyterians in question are NOT the United Presbyterians who have many churches in this area. They are the southern breakoff, in 1961, over Civil War issues, similar to the split in the Methodist Church. The southern wing of the Methodists, however, reunited with the Northern group in 1939. Attempts to reunite the northern and southern Presbyterians have foundered. The Southern church is considered more conservative theologically than its 3.5-million member sister Presbyterian church. However, it did join the National Council of Churches three years ago, and has not been laggard in expressing itself on major social concerns. It is headquartered in Atlanta.

The Reformed Church in America, started in 1628 by early Dutch settlers in New York, as the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church, is headquartered in that city, and lists nearly 400,000 members. Its main strength remains in the East and Midwest, with several lively exceptions in this area — the big El Dorado Park Community Church in Long Beach, and the Garden Grove Community Church, both drive-in pioneers. There are also churches of the denomination (one each) in Bellflower, Lakewood and Paramount.

The situation is as conducive to merger as was the Methodist and the Evangelical United Brethren, in that both have similar traditions and were separated by language differences that no longer exist. The government structures are similar and there are no major theological differences.

"IT IS NOT so much that the church says the wrong thing, it is that it says nothing," is the complaint of John Keber, a Catholic graduate student in theology at Fordham University, in the June "Glamour" magazine.

In "a young man's evaluation of the church," he accuses it of irrelevance, and explains "I call some thing irrelevant when it fails to speak to me about things that I am concerned with, frightened of or worried about."

He accuses his church of "avoiding all that demands responsible action. Millions starve in overpopulated India; the church wonders if the Pill is permissible. Racial violence threatens our cities; the church wonders if nuns can dress like anyone else. Like the beat, the talk goes on."

(Here one must point to a couple of youthful-type overstatements and non-sequiturs: Things are desperately tough in India, but "million" are not "starving." And surely the conservative viewpoint on nun's dress has nothing to do with the church's answer to racial problems — in fact, the U.S. Bishops spoke quite strongly on racial justice, and, of course, Pope Paul has been far from silent.)

Keber goes on to ask: "If it does not distinguish itself in the pursuit of charity and justice, which are its basic moral teachings, how can I accept its claim to the THE fellowship of love and justice?" The church's greatest mistake, he says, is that it has allowed "its self-understanding to be debased by its close ties economic and social, with middle-class vested interests."

Norwalk Mormons in Hollywood Bowl

The Grand Land Singers, a group of 110 Norwalk area college-age young people from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will be starred tonight in Hollywood Bowl's Pop Teen Show. They specialize in Freedom Songs under the direction of Calvin Greer of Norwalk.

FROM THE PULPIT

Spring and summer are God's natural times for growth and maturity in the world of nature. It is not always so in the spiritual realm. Many churches have limited services in the summer.

If you would like to attend a church that is alive with vitality during the summer months, try Calvary. The buildings are air-conditioned and comfortable. The musicians and singers go to special effort for the summer services. The pastor will not be away the Sunday that you decide to attend.

Let your life correspond to God's rule in nature. Let this summer season be one of spiritual growth and maturity. There are three things essential to spiritual life, growth and maturity. They are environment, food and exercise. We believe that Calvary offers all three essentials. Why not come and see this Sunday? The Word is preached, the spiritual environment will bless you and there is every opportunity to serve the Lord.

Come to Calvary. Calvary is for you!

Sex Education OK in Public Schools, Say Religion Leaders, With a Big 'If'

Sex education has a place in American public schools, say leaders of the major religious faiths — provided it is offered in the context of moral values and is not reduced to mere communication of information about human physiology.

The Interfaith Commission on Marriage and Family Life, composed of representatives of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish organizations, said it is "not only possible but necessary to recognize certain basic moral principles" in sex education.

It contended this can be done in public schools, without offense to the constitutional guarantee of church-state separation, by treating norms of sexual behavior "not as sectarian religious doctrines, but as the moral heritage of Western civilization."

"Where strong differences of opinion exist on what is right and wrong sexual behavior," the statement said, "objective, informed and dignified discussion of both sides of such questions should be encouraged. However, in such cases, neither the sponsors of an education program nor the teachers should attempt to give definite answers or to represent their personal moral and religious beliefs as the consensus of the major religions or of society generally."

Other suggested guidelines for public school sex education courses were:

1. Children should be taught that human sexuality is not evil but "a gift of God, to be accepted with thanksgiving and used with reverence and joy." They also should know that sexuality is "more than a mechanical instinct" and involves "the total personality and character of the individual."

2. They should be taught that "people who love each other try not to do anything that will harm each other."

3. They should be helped to see "how sex is distorted and exploited in our society."

4. They should be taught that "sexual intercourse within marriage offers the greatest possibility for personal fulfillment and social growth."

CHURCH HUMOR

"He's a pastor in the underground church."

ergetic and youth-oriented Rev. Gattis will also assume administrative responsibility for Methodist participation in the International Christian Youth Exchange.

"Don't forget to mention how much I have enjoyed my work in Long Beach and at Los Altos," he said. He is proud of the way Long Beach Methodists have quietly gone about providing assistance to the Community Improvement League as one answer to "What can I do?" There's already been $4,000 contributed, and "we're in the process of finding out how we can help the inner-city work with people, materials, teachers, etc."

THERE WAS the traditional "Bishop's Hour" before lunch — really a half hour — another reminder that 1.) Bishop Gerald Kennedy is one of the great American preachers. 2.) There is more, not less, need and pertinence in these days for great preaching, vivid down-to-earth challenges based on the great biblical themes. (Folks wander in and out during conventions. Everybody comes "in" for the Bishop's Hour!)

Along the walks, there was the display of somewhat radical literature by a group of Wesleyan youth — including a testimonial by Catholic missionaries to a South American country who tell why they predict, and will be on the side of, revolutionary change down there. Well, in a year when a long line of Southern Baptist young people carry picket signs at the Southern Baptist convention asking that their denomination face the issues of race, poverty and Vietnam, Methodists would be startled if their Wesleyan student display suddenly went conservative.

There was the stirring solo rendition of a sacred classic by a handsome woman whose name I missed — and Dr. Donald O'Connor of First Methodist hastening over to whisper that the singer was the wife of the incoming L.B. district supervisor, Rev. Melvin Talbert.

And finally, before hitting the freeway for the return trip, a quick venture into the wildly tempting display of books for sale. Succumbing to one volume, I handed it to one of the women behind the circular counter and inquired how much. She found the price marked inside the cover.

"Are you a minister?" she asked.

"No," I replied regretfully. "I'm not even a Methodist. No discount for me!"

Maybe it pays to be honest. I believe I may have won myself a little discount along with a most charming smile.

On King and Kennedy

This reference to the deaths of Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy, which occurred since last year's convention, were made at the Methodist convention in Redlands by Rev. Richard W. Cain, superintendent of the Los Angeles District.

Our world and our section of the Church has been deeply affected by two murders during this Conference year. We felt the revulsion that comes when any of God's creatures is arbitrarily denied life. We sustained a poignant sense of loss. Particularly at the death of Dr. Martin Luther King did we feel the horrify effect of a senseless loss of a brother, a fellow pastor and a leader among us. A week before his death some of us heard him, from one of our pulpits in our Conference, declare the Word. We knew that we had heard God's man preach his Word. The world lost a Nobel Prize winner, his people lost their spokesman and their leader; all of us lost one who has shown us the way.

With all the nation we suffered as Senator Robert Francis Kennedy was killed in a city of this Conference. We are stricken that in this land men still seek by violence to affect the destinies of the world. We are aided in our commitment to faith and service as we watched his family proclaim their unalterable faith in the Risen Lord. Their celebration of their faith in worship and word deepened our own. We were moved as his mother echoed, "We go on with no regrets. We will carry on with courage."

Let the words of these two men be our reminder and our response as a Church in this day. With Martin Luther King — "We have a dream." With Robert Francis Kennedy — "Some men see things as they are and say why. We dream things that never were and say why not."

May these keep us constant in the life that would make apparent what our Lord said, "Greater things shall ye do."

Friends Will Convene in GG

Representatives of Friends churches from California and Arizona will meet in their 74th annual session at the Alamitos Friends Church in Garden Grove Wednesday through Sunday, June 19-23.

Addressing the sessions will be Dr. Louis Evans, noted Presbyterian leader, and T. Canby Jones, Professor of Religion and Philosophy at Wilmington College, and the Earlham School of Religion, T. Eugene Coffin, former pastor of the Alamitos Friends Church, will address a banquet meeting of California Quaker Men and also participate in the regular sessions.

A special luncheon next Saturday will feature a report on work now in progress with the Negro community in Long Beach. Fred Newkirk, Long Beach pastor, will report. Other speakers will include Richard Foster, director of the work with Negro youth and Victoria Mack, of Jamaica.

GOINGS ON

The Grace College Male Quartet from Winona Lake, Ind. will present a program of music and testimony Sunday, 7 p.m. in First Brethren, 36th and Linden. The conservative school of theology is affiliated with the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches. . . Rev. and Mrs. Larry Webb, missionaries to Barbados, West Indies, on their first furlough since 1963, will speak Sunday, 10:45 a.m. in Westside Church of the Nazarene, 2911 Santa Fe Ave. . . Dr. and Mrs. Walter de Velder, Reformed Church missionaries to the Chinese people since 1929, will speak at the 8:45 a.m. service Sunday in Bethel Reformed, 10012 Ramona St., Bellflower. When the Communists took over, they fled in the Philippines, where they worked among the Chinese there, and then went to Hong Kong to work with the Chinese refugees pouring in. They will also speak in Zion Reformed of Artesia at 10:30 a.m. . . Bethel Reformed will also, at 7:30 p.m., host the New Crusaders, 75 young people from the denomination's churches, who form a patriotic and religious singing group. . .

The week starting Monday will be Youth Emphasis Week at Bellflower Assembly of God, Olive and Ardmore, with notables, visiting youth choirs, and testimony each night at 7:30 highlighted by the Teen Challenge Choir, formed by Dave Wilkerson, and a tribute to servicemen Sunday, June 30 at 7 p.m. All are invited. . . Continuing its eight-week seminar on the Kerner Report, Grace Methodist at Third and Juniper will hear Dr. L. L. White, pastor of Holman Methodist Church of Los Angeles, on "The Future of Race Relations," starting at 7 p.m.

4 New Books Reviewed

THE RELIGION OF THE BIBLE. By S. Vernon McCasland. Apollo Editions, $2.25.

An aid to biblical study, covering the entire Bible, including the Apocrypha. Author McCasland emphasizes the religious ideas and the faith of the Scriptures but deals also with the history, literature and life of the ancient Hebrews and the first Christians.

CHRISTIANITY AND PARADOX. By Ronald W. Hephurn. Pegasus, $5; paperback $1.95.

A Cambridge and Edinburgh teacher of religious philosophy argues for a faith based on common sense and reason, and shows much of today's theological argument to be weak. He may disturb some readers, for he calls for a regretful agnosticism, but he will provoke thought.

SYNOD '67: A New BASIC READINGS' IN THEOLOGY. Edited by A. D. Galloway. Meridian Books (World), $2.95.

A systematic anthology of 21 authors representative of the Christian theological tradition — from the First Century's Irenaeus to the 19th Century's Soren Kierkegaard. Stress is laid on doctrinal rather than philosophical theology.

Hail Teen Texts for Common Study

In a major ecumenical advance, some 250,000 Protestant and Roman Catholic teenagers will be using the same textbooks this fall to study about the Bible and the Christian beliefs.

Six textbooks are being published jointly by the United Church Press, publishing arm of the United Church of Christ, and Herder & Herder, a leading publisher of Catholic books.

Reagan Says School Aid Will Hit Budget

Originally prepared by Protestant scholars, the books were adapted for Catholic use by making a few changes in terminology, such as substituting "Mass" for "worship service" and "priest" for "minister." The Catholic edition bears the imprimatur of Bishop Robert F. Joyce of Burlington, Vt.

Reagan said the shortage will "drastically affect" the budget for the fiscal year that begins July 1. The $5.7 billion spending program is now under consideration by a Senate-Assembly Conference Committee.

USSR URGES COMPLETE BAN ON SOUTH AFRICA

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) —The Soviet Union, which played a large part in having South Africa excluded earlier this year from the Mexico City Olympics, is pressing hard to have that country ousted from other world sport.

Harry Getz, president of the South African Amateur Swimming Union, said Friday the agenda for the next International Swimming Federation (FINA) Congress includes a Soviet motion to expel South Africa.

Getz said he learned this when he received an advance copy of the agenda as a member of the FINA executive committee. The Congress will be held in Mexico City during the Olympics in October.

Russia has a motion seeking South Africa's expulsion because of its race policies also on the agenda for the International Lawn Tennis Federation meeting in Monte Carlo in July.

Getz said the Russian move was not unexpected after the part Russia "played in the recent International Olympic Committee discussions to exclude South Africa."

He predicted similar motions will appear on the agenda of other international sports federations.

German Boxer Was Drugged

COLOGNE, Germany (UPI) — Investigators said Friday that German middleweight Jupp Elze was drugged when he suffered a fatal ring injury June 12, touching off the first doping scandal in professional boxing history.

Elze, 28, died Thursday night of injuries suffered June 12 when battered for 15 rounds by Carlos Duran, the European champion.

Cologne prosecutor Paul Klein opened a preliminary investigation into possible negligent homicide immediately after hearing the announcement from Prof. Guenther Dotzauer, director of the Cologne Institute of Legal Medicine, that a "doping substance" was found in a urine specimen.

Elze suffered brain damage during the fight, which Duran won on a technical knockout, and lapsed into a coma.

Dotzauer declined to name the "doping substance."

"I don't want to give the parties involved any chance to manipulate things," he said.

Rumors for days that drugs might have helped Elze last the full 15 rounds of punishment by Duran, an Argentine-born Italian had been circulated.

The rumors became public during Elze's dying hours when Thursday's edition of the nationally-circulated Bild-Zeitung headlined, "Was Elze Doped?"

Jean Loering, Elze's manager, Hans Weinbach, his trainer, and Peter Herzig, his masseur, reacted with angry denials to the headline.

"This is simply impossible and I regard any insinuation in this regard as a personal insult," said Loering shortly before Elze's death.

"Absolutely not! Jupp was clean, I'm sure," said Herzig, who was involved in a doping scandal only recently when professional cyclist Rolf Wolfshohl drew a month's suspension for allegedly using dope. Herzig is Wolfshohl's handler.

Loering demanded the immediate public announcement of the doping test performed on Elze. He said this would banish any suspicion, but the tests confirmed the accusations.

The men in Elze's corner June 12 could not immediately be reached for comment after Dotzauer's statement.

Prosecutor Klein said his preliminary investigation will determine if there are grounds for a full-dress legal inquiry to decide if negligent homicide was involved.

Under suspicion would be "the person or persons who may have given Elze the dope and possibly the ring physician," Klein said.

As far as Dr. Hettasch is concerned, the inquiry would have to establish whether he had grounds to suspect doping while letting the fight go on.

SET U.S. STEEPLECHASE RECORD

Young Just Keeps on Winning

By JOHN DIXON
Staff Writer

SACRAMENTO — George Young may not be the greatest runner the world has ever known, but no one ever put together a better season.

Running indoors and outdoors in snowflakes and 107 degree desert, galloping two miles, 5,000 meters, three miles, the steeplechase, Young is unbeaten, untied, untested in 1968.

He hopes to retire with a perfect record after Mexico City Olympiad.

Friday, in the National AAU championships at Sacramento, Young turned the steeplechase into two races — Young, and the remainder of the entries.

Although he had no challenge, Young annihilated the American record. His time was 8:30.5, well under Pat Traynor's old standard of 8:32.4, and a hardy improvement on his own career cum laude performance in the Tokyo Olympiad, 8:34.2.

Bob Price was second in 8:35.3, Conrad Nightingale third in 8:38.4.

"I was aiming four under 8:30," Young said, a little disappointed, "but I botched up on the water jump three times. I paid more attention to the lap times than ever before. I think I'm in condition now to beat Roelants (World record holder at 8:28.4), Kudinsky, or anyone."

Young wasn't the only star, but he was the brightest in this 80th AAU galaxy, that saw meet records knifed in almost every event.

Tommie Smith was terrific, as usual.

Well back in the 200 meter dash at the halfway point, Smith accelerated as though the law were after him and won by a yard and one-half in 20.3, bettering the meet record by two-tenths.

Teammate John Carlos was mistakenly credited with the same time, while Ronnie Ray Smith was third in 20.4.

"I'm going to run in the trials next week," Smith said, "but I don't know about the Olympics. I don't know what factor will decide it for me. We are still having meetings about the boycott."

His boycott teammate, Lee Evans, also turned in a sparkler, winning the 400 meter spring in 45.0, equal No. 1 in the world.

Other outstanding efforts included the 269-6 javelin fling by Frank Covelli of the PCC and Tracy Smith's 28:47.0 in the 10,000.

The crowd of 18,625 failed to activate the adrenalin of two former greats, high jump record holder John Thomas was unable to qualify for the Olympic trials, and Billy Mills, hero at Tokyo, dropped out of the 10,000 after 2 1/2 miles.

The Southern California Striders retained their team championship.

Don DeNoon, Cal State Long Beach student, won the 3,000-meter walk in a well, walk. Leading from starter's gun to finish tape, he was clocked in 12:37.9, bettering the 16-year-old meet record by 15 seconds. He missed his own American record by only three seconds, and en route was only two seconds off the 85 year old American record for one mile.

Ron Laird of the New York AC was second in 12:40.6, Larry Walker of San Pedro third in 12:49.4. It's a good bet these three will blaze the U.S. colors at Mexico City.

Mets Pleasing Everyone Except Dodger 'Cousins'

By GEORGE LEDERER
Staff Writer

NEW YORK — For the first time since their inception, the Mets have a pleasing ball club.

Gil Hodges, the manager, is pleased because the Mets are only a game under .500 and their 32-33 record is the best ever at this stage of the season.

The fans are pleased because 722,512 have turned out for 29 dates at Shea Stadium. Friday's crowd was 46,868 and it was another pleasant evening as the Mets conquered the Dodgers for the fourth time in a row, 5-1.

Hodges was especially happy because Ed Charles was the Mets' batting star, driving in the first three runs with a double and a single.

Charles is a 35-year-old re-tread, purchased from Kansas City a year ago, but has been the Mets' most rhythmic hitter for a month. He has a nine-game streak with 15 hits in 28 chances for a .536 pace. With two hits Friday, he broke into the league's top 10 with a .303 average and against lefthanded pitching he has been a terror all season at 464.

It was against losing left-hander Claude Osteen (6-9) that Charles drove in the Mets' first two runs with a double in the third inning.

Bud Harrelson and Linz had singled ahead of him.

In the eighth inning, after Ron Fairly's homer had brought the Dodgers to 2-1, Charles salted away the seventh win in eight decisions for Dick Selma with a single against reliever John Purdin.

An error by third baseman Bob Bailey, after two were out, made the three New York runs unearned in the eighth. Ron Swoboda, batting for Art Shamsky, drove in the last two against Jim Brewer.

In sharp contrast to the pleasantries reeled off by Hodges, Walter Alston found many faults leading to the Dodgers' ninth loss in their last 12 outings.

Jim Lefebvre, making his third start in the last 54 games, was singled out for two major boo-boos.

After Linz' single in the third inning, and with the game still scoreless, Fairly threw a strike to Lefebvre at second and caught Harrelson two steps away from the bag. But Lefebvre was two steps on the other side and the Dodgers missed the third out.

"I don't know why Lefebvre wasn't on the base," said Alston.

In the seventh, Fairly's first homer since the third game of the season, also against the Mets, made it a 2-1 contest to start the inning. Lefebvre followed with a drive to the alley in left-center, but was thrown

BOOG BIG BIRD IN ATTACK

Orioles Stave Off Angel Rally

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

In Baltimore there are signs proclaiming 1968 as "The Year of the Bird."

Thus far it's been Detroit's year. The other clubs have had too many streaks where they have been for the birds. Regardless, it appears as though it will be year of the big bird in Baltimore — John (Boog) Powell.

The 240-pound Oriole first baseman slugged a 458 foot two-run homer in the first inning at Anaheim Stadium Friday night as Baltimore beat the Angels, 4-2.

The Halos, who had won six of their previous seven games which featured late rallies, bowed out against the Birds in the ninth with the bases loaded.

It looked like another great finish for the Angels in the ninth. Jim Fregosi singled with one out and

ANGEL OF DAY

JACK HAMILTON, who made his first appearance since June 9th when he was sidelined by a rib injury, recorded two scoreless innings.

scored on Rick Reichardt's double to right-center. Baltimore starter Dave McNally issued his first walk of the game, sending Bubba Morton to first, and then Hank Bauer told McNally to take a walk to the show-er.

In came Moe Drabowsky, who issued a walk to pinch hitter Roger Repoz to load the bases. A very interesting situation. Three men on, one out, two runs behind.

The Orioles, however, quickly removed the interest for Angel fans. Drabowsky got Leo Rodriguez to fly to short right and then Pete Richter came in from the bullpen to retire Tom Satriano on a fly to left and end the game.

McNally limited the Angels to six hits while notching seven strikeouts. The Halos had put together singlas by Bobby Knoop and Vic Davalillo in the third to score a run but they were under McNally's spell until the ninth.

Powell meanwhile, got Baltimore off on the right start with his gigantic first-inning homer off George Brunet after Fred Valentine had singled.

Brunet retired the Orioles in order in the second through the fourth innings. Baltimore, however, produced a run in the fifth on singles by Paul Blair and Don Buford and then kayoed Brunet the next inning with two doubles.

Frank Robinson doubled to open the sixth and came scooting home on Dave Johnson's double to left. That was the end of Brunet.

Robinson, who has just returned to the Oriole lineup after being sidelined by the mumps and then a sore shoulder, contributed two doubles and a walk to the Bird attack.

No one is happier to see Robinson back in the lineup than Powell.

"With Frank batting fourth it really helps me," says Powell. "It means they can't afford to walk me. And with Brooks (Robinson) batting fifth it means they can't afford to walk anybody."

Powell's homer was his

ADDS FIFTH PEARL TO CROWN

Glanville Wins L.B. City Golf

Miss Harriet Glanville of Meadowlark won her fifth Long Beach City Women's Golf Championship Friday and said she hopes to keep playing long enough to win five more.

The way the Meadowlark champion hit the ball at Recreation Park this past week there is a strong chance she just might keep adding pearls to her crown.

She fired a brilliant round of 2-under-par to whip Mildred Stanley, 3 and 2, in the clincher Friday, and she was even par for her four matches in the tournament, spanning 60 holes.

Beating Mrs. Stanley, a

Hawaiian-born housewife from Los Angeles, is no easy trick. In fact, Mildred had won six consecutive tournaments.

Ironically, Mrs. Stanley started her streak one year ago by winning the Long Beach title. Miss Glanville was not aware that Mrs. Stanley was unbeaten in so long a time.

"I was scared all the way," said Harriet, "and maybe that's why I played so well."

"I played well but not well enough to win," said the popular Mrs. Stanley. "It seemed like I was fighting an uphill battle all the time. I had a feeling it was Harriet's day. She played beautiful golf."

Indeed she did. A 7-foot birdie putt on No. 4 put Miss Glanville 1 up and she never was behind. Mrs. Stanley birdied the fifth to get even, but Harriet rolled in a 45-footer to win No. 7 and also took the eighth to go 2 up.

The next six holes were halved in par, then Miss Glanville birdied No. 15 when she drilled her second shot 12 inches from the pin. She closed out the match with a conceded par from the same distance on No. 16.

Harriet won her first Long Beach title in 1960 and followed up with victories in 1962, 1963, 1966 and 1968.

In championship consolation, young Carolyn Finley won the 18th hole for a 1 up victory over Joan Glass of Lakewood. Like Miss Glanville, Miss Finley is from Meadowlark.

Flight winners were Joyce Steele of Alondra, Tobi Stone of Sepulveda, Marge Ortiz of El Dorado, Anne Calderone of Deauville and Ila Lambert of Anaheim.

Championship — Harriet Glanville (Meadowlark) def. Mildred Stanley (Griffin Park) 3-2; consolation — Carolyn Finley (Meadowlark) def. Joan Glass (Lakewood) 1 up.

Second Flight — Tobi Stone (Sepulveda) def. Diane Patterson (Rio Hondo) 3-2; consolation — Pat McCormick (Old Ranch) def. Nina Curtis (Sepulveda) 2-1.

Third Flight — Marge Ortiz (El Dorado) def. June Taylor (Willow) 2-1; consolation — Jane Felt (Griffin Park) def. Ethel Shell (Rec. Park) 6-5.

Fourth Flight — Anne Calderone (Deauville) def. Ginny Piles (Crystal Aire) 3-1; consolation — Marge Johnson (Los Verdés) def. Bobby Burbridge (Rec. Park) 5-3.

Fifth Flight — Ila Lambert (Anaheim) def. Alice Harris (Old Ranch) 2-1; consolation — Mable Howard (Rec. Park) def. Betty Wilson (Rec. Park) 5-3.

SELECT BIG D

TOP HICKOK PRO FOR MAY

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Drysdale, the Dodgers' shutout pitcher, won the May poll in the competition for the S. Rae Hickok Pro Athlete of the Year award.

Drysdale, who pitched five of his successive shutouts in the month of May, won by a comfortable margin with Bobby Unser, winner of the Indianapolis 500, and Frank Howard, Washington's home run slugger, running close together as second and third. Jim "Catfish" Hunter, who pitched a perfect game for the Oakland A's, was fourth.

FACE OXNARD

Nitehawks Hope to Gain Ground

By CHUCK MEDICK

When the Oxnard Kings come to Long Beach for a Western Softball Congress battle with the Nitehawks at 8:15 tonight, the pressure will be on both teams.

The resurgent Kings find themselves in second place only one game behind La Mesa while the Hawks are in fourth place, a game and a half ahead of Lakewood's M&M Charters.

The addition of Pete Carlson of Moline, Ill., has given Oxnard one of the nation's top pitching staffs. Jack Newman, always one of the best and strikeout leader in the WSC for three years, now has the help he has needed throughout the years.

Carlson, who, together with Ritchie Stephen, pitched Harrelson Motors of Moline to the International Softball Congress World's title last year, is considered by many to be the nation's No. 1 lefthander. His decision to take up residence in Oxnard and pursue his teaching career was truly welcomed by Oxnard manager Dr. Duane Jones.

Though it's getting late in the season, the Nitehawks are beginning to look like they did in the pre-season tournaments and are now in fourth place with 11 wins and 11 losses. After the Oxnard game, the Hawks travel to La Mesa for a Sunday doubleheader. By the time the weekend is over, the complexion of the standings could be completely changed.

Manager Red Meairs will probably start lefthander Art Bunge.

Top Skiers in State Perform at Stadium

Competition is expected until close to sunset today as the Greater South Bay Water Ski Championships unfold at Marine Stadium. First event today was to be at 8 a.m., and the event will conclude Sunday beginning at noon. Admission is free.

Skiers from all over the state are taking part in the Golden West Water Ski Tournament Club event, sanctioned by the American Water Ski Assn.

Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, reigning world champion, and Larry Penacho of San Diego, former champion, head the masculine entrants and Stephanie Stephens of San Diego, national women's slalom champion, is the leading femme entrant.

The 2-day program consists of slalom, trick and jump skiing for both men and women, in five age-group classes.

Gals Teed Off Over Surprise Summonses

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — An outraged lawyer blasted Friday the tactics of process servers who handed routine summonses Thursday to three women golfers as they stepped up to the 10th tee in the $20,000 Ladies PGA Championship.

The summonses called the three women to appear next month at a Boston law office for the taking of depositions in a damage suit pending in the U.S. District Court at Boston.

The summonses were handed to golfers Kathy Whitworth, defending champion; Sandra Haney, and Carol Mann, who later collapsed and had to be hospitalized. Summonses also were given to Leonard Wirtz, tournament director, as an individual and as representative of the tournament. All those served were shaken by the surprise move.

The case involves a pending damage suit for $1,250,000 against the four individuals and the golf association, with $250,000 sought from each.

The suits were filed a year ago by Jack Klass, of Woodland Hills, Calif., in behalf of his daughter, Beverly, 11, who tried to enter last year's tournament, but was barred when the association adopted a rule setting 18 years as the minimum age for entrants.

Expect 700 to Compete in Yankee Doodle Meet

The Third Yankee Doodle Cross Country Meet, sponsored by the Los Angeles Parks Dept. and the Kiwanis Club of San Pedro, will be held today at Peck Park, 5606 N. Western Ave., San Pedro, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Over 700 runners are expected to participate in nine classes.

There will be two women's and seven men's events, including an open, a junior college and high school division.

There is no entry fees and entries will be taken before the races.

A Rare and Wonderful Invention!

LAWRENCE A. "L.A.C." COLLINS

Inventor/Rancher/Salesman/Promoter/Publisher/Columnist/Citizen Supreme

After his father's death, LAC immediately launched his business career. At the tender age of nine, he opened a shoe shine stand and sold candy in the theaters of his native Denver. When 16, he prevaricated a little regarding his age and obtained a job as salesman for a croup remedy. He worked several states, eventually entering California and choosing Long Beach for the next step in his sales career.

An Ohio firm appointed LAC their sales manager and started him on the road once again. However, once having seen Long Beach, the young man wanted nowhere else to call home. He returned and organized his own national sales organization with 4 different products including his cold remedy. One of the most ambitious ideas was his incentive plan for LAC-LAX, a mint laxative. He offered free a crystal bowl containing two goldfish with the purchase of a fifty-cent box of LAC-LAX . . . sold 3,000 deals (involving more than a million goldfish) to merchants across the country. Sales were brisk, until a rare epidemic wiped out most of the goldfish being shipped across the country to points of sale.

Undaunted, and operating on the theory that "The Lord never closes a door but he opens a window" young LAC put his creative spirit to work on other products. For five years he even found time to manage a 600-acre ranch on the side.

In 1938, with a solid background in selling new products from inception, he launched a twice-a-week newspaper that would in 1943 become a full-fledged daily . . . the Independent. He operated this newspaper until 1952 when it was sold to Ridder Publications, Inc.

A complete list of his contributions to Long Beach Community life would have to be indexed for easier reading. A quick glance shows that he held the presidency of three civic organizations . . . The Exchange Club, Rotary Club and Community Chest. He is presently on the Board of Directors of Downtown Long Beach Associates and the Advisory Board at California State College at Long Beach. But the list goes on . . . Boy Scouts of America . . . Boys Clubs . . . Better Business Bureau . . . and on, Yes, LAC is a rare and wonderful invention (his exclusive patent!)

In 1929, LAC developed an electric vaporizer for colds. He marketed it together with a turpentine ointment . . . 2 for 95c. It was such a big seller across the country that between '29 and '33 LAC . . . didn't even know there was a depression going on!"

In 1933 he adapted the heating system of the vaporizer to a bottle warmer . . . sold the idea to the Vanta baby garment company and successfully merchandised it for them.

One of the first automobile radios was made by a Los Angeles company from whom young Collins bought the instruments. He then got in a deal with General Tire distributors to sell the unit for $15.95 with a set of General Tires.

In 1921 LAC used the ultraviolet lamp principle in producing a short ray machine that could be used by physicians for treatment of certain skin infections.

Rising Market Heads Long Beach 'Cap

By ERNIE MASON

Rising Market, who has played a major role in two of Hollywood Park's most exciting stakes this season, will head a field of nine today when the Inglewood track presents the inaugural running of the $44,900 Long Beach Handicap.

Should all nine start the winner of the mile and one-eighth test will collect a check for $28,400.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert W. Martin's flame-colored four-year-old missed by just a nose to Gamely in the $57,050 Inglewood Handicap two weeks ago and earlier in the season scored by that same margin over Aurelius II in the first division of the Los Angeles Handicap.

Rising Market will carry top weight of 119 pounds today, spotting his rivals from one to 12 pounds. Making up that opposition will be Quicken Tree (118), Indulto (115), Title Game (111), Zulu Lad (111), Field Master (110), Deck Hand (108), Rivet (108) and The Bagel King (107).

The mile and one-eighth Inglewood Handicap was Rising Market's fifth successive strong effort this season, all in stakes. He also was runnerup in the Premiere Handicap, third in the California and fourth in a division of the Lakeside Handicap on the turf.

One of the West's top handicap performers since early in the year at Santa Anita, Rising Market's 1968 record also shows a victory in the $88,000 San Antonio Stakes at the Arcadia track. His regular pilot, Laffit Pincay, will be in the irons.

Cutting it as fine as aboarding house chef for a second successive afternoon, jockey Don Pierce drove Traveling Dust to a thrilling nose victory over three-year-old Right Or Wrong in the featured $10,000 Nooners Club of Santa Barbara Purse Friday.

Thursday, Pierce measured his finish on two-year-old Bold Thurst to take the $23,100 Portola Stakes by a nose and Friday's headliner was just exciting.

Mirage Bids for Sweep

Arlington Tops Busy Race Card

Associated Press

Dark Mirage's bid for a sweep of New York's triple crown for 3-year-old fillies, the $10,000-added Arlington Classic in Chicago and the 109th running of the Queen's Plate at Woodbine in Toronto provide the high spots for today's busy horse racing program.

No filly ever has won the filly triple crown since the New York Racing Commission set up the prize for the winner of the Acorn, Mother Goose and Coaching Club American Oaks in 1961. After winning the Acorn by six lengths and the Mother Goose by 10, Dark Mirage is a 1-10 morning line favorite to take the Coaching Club American Oaks at 1 1/4 miles.

The entry of Gay Matelda and Syriana Sea, plus Crystal Palace, Parida and Moss have been named to challenge Dark Mirage, the 710-pound mighty miss who has won six in a row, including five stakes.

Manuel Ycaza will be the rider. Dark Mirage recently equalled the Belmont mile record of 1:34 4/5. Victory will be worth $75,562 if all six go. Each will carry scale weight of 121 pounds.

Call Me Prince, Verbatim and Nodouble are the top-weighted trio at 118 pounds in the Arlington Classic, a one-mile test for 3-year-olds. Verbatim is coming off a fine workout and Call Me Prince is the Max Hirsch-trained colt who was third in the Belmont.

Others in the Chicago feature are Good Investment, American Tiger, Master Bold, Iron Ruler and Exclusive Native.

With the injured Arctic Blizzard sidelined, the Lanson Farm's entry of Big Plunder and Polar Zone is expected to be the favorite in the Queen's Plate, a 1 1/4-mile race for Canadian-bred 3-year-olds which has attracted a field of 13, including three fillies.

If there are no withdrawals, the winner will get $43,641. Roulettable and Phelodie are rated the top contenders.

Hirsch will be shooting for another stake for 3-year-olds at Delaware Park where King Ranch's Draft Card, winner of the Kent, will try to add the Leonard Richard Stakes at 1 1/8 miles. Draft Card will carry 119 pounds to 116 by Ringmaster who was second, a head back, in the Kent two weeks ago.

Heliodoro Gustines will replace John Rotz on Draft Card because Rotz is due to ride Call Me Prince in Chicago. Only six are entered in the $40,000-added stakes.

Peripatetic Mr. Silva Could Use Billboard

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Henry Silva can't win unless he's treading water in the precise center of the Atlantic Ocean.

When he's seeking work in Italy Henry is mistaken for an American. In Hollywood they figure him for an Italian.

At about 40 degrees latitude and 30 degrees longitude, which would place Silva somewhere near the center of the North Atlantic, maybe everyone would accept him for what he is — a Puerto Rican.

Of course, few — if any — producers are looking for actors in mid-ocean. Henry knows this. In fact the other day he said, "It's important that the industry know where an actor is."

He will get no argument there.

"If I run into a producer or director in Europe they're surprised to see me," Silva went on. "They say, 'I thought you were in the states.'"

"Then they tell me they hired someone else for the part because they thought I was in Hollywood. Yet when I get back to California I run into a director who says he thought I was perfect for a role, but he gave it to another guy because he thought I was in Europe."

Silva was silent a moment. I thought I detected a tear in his eye.

"Maybe I should take out a billboard on Sunset Boulevard reading 'Hey, I'm in town! Trouble is somebody might write 'Who cares? undemocratic.'"

Henry has brought the miseries on himself. He has made a total of 10 pictures abroad. And that's where he will return.

"I will be appearing in American movies, but I'd say two-thirds of the pictures I make in the next three years will be in Europe. No matter what is said for or against filming in Europe, it is an economic reality. It's cheaper to make them there."

Silva recently completed "Holiday" in Italy and "Assassination" elsewhere in Europe. Next are two possibilities in Spain and another in Czechoslovakia.

BOOK REVIEWS

A Perceptive Texas Diary

MARY AUSTIN HOLLEY: THE TEXAS DIARY, 1835-1838. Edited with an Introduction by J. P. Bryan. University of Texas Press, $4.95.

She was a Connecticut Yankee, a member of the famous Austin family, and in fact a first cousin of Stephen F. Austin. Five times she journeyed to Texas, and her diary records her second and third trips, made in 1835 and 1837-1838.

In it we glimpse the great men of colonial Texas and the Texas Republic — Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston, Mirabeau B. Lamar among them. Not only leaders, but life in early Texas, the way in which the Texans lived, moved about, their political and social activities, fill these pages.

She captured, in her perceptiveness, not only the early Texas of the high and the mighty (On Dec. 26, 1837 she records: "President (Sam Houston) ill all this day. Could hear him groan all night . . . but of the low as well.

On the opposite side of Oyster Creek, marking the eastern boundary of the Bolivar estate, "lives Old Rock, as they call him, & his family . . . The house is shaped like a tent, in the middle was a fire, over which on a cross piece hung an iron kettle boiling some beef bones, strips of beef undergoing the process of jerking hung on other sticks; a fine-looking intelligent boy . . . and a laughing, curly-headed, blue-eyed girl, 2½ years old — rosy & fat, were seated round it. They were left in charge while the father & mother went to Bolivar for corn. On one side, on the ground were the rags which made the bed for the whole family (5 children). This was all the furniture . . . What unaccountable poverty." — Nat Honig.

"I TOLD YOU IF I CAME HOME SOBER AT THIS TIME OF NIGHT THE SHOCK WOULD BE TOO MUCH FOR HER!"

JESUS CHRIST. By A. J. Langguth. Harper & Row, $4.95.

What the dust jacket overleaf describes as a first novel can hardly be called a novel. A first book would be more accurate. This is not to detract from the book, for A. J. Langguth has written a fine series of unrelated episodes — the succeeding episode may

Bing's Pact Extended

NEW YORK (AP) — Rudolf Bing, 66-year-old general manager of the Metropolitan Opera since 1950, will continue to head it through the 1971-72 season. Directors of the Met voted to extend the Viennese-born administrator's contract two years beyond the present expiration date, June 30, 1970.

Turkey's University Uproar in 11th Day

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Ten thousand students seized buildings in three schools Friday. Students of two other colleges decided to end their strike in this 11th day of Turkey's university boycott.

Over all, about 65,000 students continued active in the Turkish boycott and some 22 schools were affected.

THE SCALPHUNTERS

Trapper Burt Lancaster and runaway slave Ossie Davis follow the trail of a load of pelts stolen first by Indians, then by a band of scalphunters. Adults and mature young people.

PLANET OF THE APES

Three astronauts are catapulted into an era 2,000 years hence when their spaceship crash-lands on an unfamiliar planet peopled by civilized apes and mutated humans. Stars Charlton Heston, Roddy McDowell, Kim Hunter, Maurice Evans. Adults and mature young people.

THE SECRET WAR OF HARRY FRIGG

An Army private (Paul Newman) becomes a hero when he devises a plan to rescue five Allied generals imprisoned in a countless villa during World War II. Adults, young people.

THE JUNGLE BOOK

Disney animated cartoon suggested by Kipling's delightful Mowgli stories, relating the tale of a small boy raised by kindly beasts of the jungle. General audience.

19 Hurt, 39 Seized in Tokyo Violence

TOKYO (AP) — Thirty-nine persons, including 33 militant Zengakuren students, were arrested and 19 others injured Friday during a clash with riot police trying to maintain order at an antigovernment demonstration.

The free-for-all followed a fight between student groups on Tokyo's Chuo University campus, police said.

Jack Entratter Loses Bride and $25,000

LAS VEGAS (AP) — An eight-month marriage between Las Vegas show producer Jack Entratter and the former Corinne Cole of Los Angeles ended this week in divorce.

Mrs. Entratter won the decree on the grounds of extreme mental cruelty. She was awarded $25,000. It was the second marriage for Entratter, 54, whose first wife died six years ago. It was the first marriage for Mrs. Entratter, 30.

Walt Disney's The Happiest Millionaire

Other concepts of God presented in the book contradicted this view and the reader rather gathers that the author has either not made up his mind about God's personal interest in man, or has refused to commit himself.

It is a wise and compassionate book that Langguth has written and one that will stick in the mind. — Forest Jordan.
